Life Forming on Jupiter?

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New indications have been discovered that the great planet Jupiter, long thought to be a dead world, may be manufacturing the molecular building blocks of life.

These indications were reported recently by a couple of scientists who said they have "profound implications for studies of the origin of life on earth."

The scientists are Jack Greenspan and Tobias Owen of the Research Institute of Chicago. They analyzed the atmosphere of Jupiter as observed in infrared and ultraviolet light and reported their findings in the magazine Science.

Jupiter is by far the largest of the sun's planets. It is 318 times as massive as the earth.

Because of its great gravitational power, a function of its great mass, scientists assume that Jupiter has retained in its atmosphere the original substances of which the solar system was formed some 5,000,000,000 years ago.

The lighter of these, notably hydrogen, have gradually escaped from the atmosphere of earth because this planet's gravitational pull is not strong enough to hold them.

But hydrogen compounds such as methane and ammonia in earth's early atmosphere are believed to have interacted under the influence of solar radiation or lightning discharges to form the complex "pre-life" molecules out of which living organisms evolved.

Greenspan and Owen also found a mystery. Chemical molecules disclose their presence in spectroscopic studies by the characteristic way they absorb specific wavelengths of light.

Greenspan and Owen discovered absorptions which appear to be caused by some kind of complicated hydrocarbon. Its identification, perhaps by spacecraft of the future, will help to determine whether Jupiter is indeed a vast biological laboratory.

* * *

Because of this possibility, that pre-life molecules are even now being created in the Jovian atmosphere, Greenspan and Owen feel that "missions to Jupiter promise to be among the most rewarding efforts of the space program."

Sniper Fire Ricochets In Milwaukee

By United Press International

Sniper fire ricocheted in the troubled streets of Milwaukee Monday night despite heavy police and National Guard patrols out to enforce a rigid curfew.

There were new reports of fires and looting and police armed with high-powered rifles stalked the area where rioting, sniping, arson and looting erupted Sunday night. Teams of crackshot officers worked the streets in armored cars. (See also Page 29.)

National Guardsmen were on stand-by alert outside of Riviera Beach, Fla., where police fired 50 rounds of teargas late Sunday and early Monday to put down a band of 300 Negroes who battled officers. Calm was reported there Monday night, but police in nearby West Palm Beach said there had been minor incidents of lawlessness and several fires, although the causes of the blazes were not immediately determined.

In Milwaukee, rioting flared so far beyond control Sunday night that a state of emergency was declared. Two persons, one a policeman, were killed, at least 83 persons more injured and 347 arrested during rampages extending into Monday.

A force of approximately 6,000 National Guardsmen and police were assigned to the area to keep order.

Violence also occurred early Monday in Portland, Ore., where between 200 and 300 Negroes in small gangs rampaged for several hours following an outdoor rally...

For Vast Majority

Life in Ghetto Just Waiting'

By RAY HEBERT

BOSTON (LAT) — What's life like in the ghetto?

In impoverished neighborhoods of the nation's large cities, resignation and militancy exist side by side, according to New York mayor John Lindsay.

"If you go into the slums, as I have, you may find that the people want pretty much what everybody wants," he told a national meeting of mayors and city officials.

The mayor of the nation's most populous city said he was not talking about rioters — most of whom are much more interested in a free television set than the improvement of the human condition."

"I am talking about the vast majority of the urban poor who are waiting — with accelerating impatience — for progress to reach them," he said.

Addressing the annual congress of cities, he listed these aspirations of the ghetto dweller:

"They want a better place to live. They want jobs. They want the rats exterminated. They want the trash cleaned from the streets. They want the dope pushers and junkies arrested. They want more playgrounds for their children."

Three Arrested In Biggest Theft

BOSTON (AP) — Two men and a woman were indicted and arrested Monday in connection with the $1,551,277 robbery of a U.S. mail truck in Plymouth, Mass., in 1962.

They were rounded up a few hours after secret indictments were returned by a federal grand jury which had been investigating the robbery for the last two weeks.

Arrested were Thomas R. Richards, 42, of Weymouth, Mass.; John J. Kelley, 51, of Weymouth, Mass., and Patricia Diaferio, 32, of Boston.

The indictment charged that all three, with "other persons unknown," robbed two postal workers of $1,551,277 in Canadian and American currency.

Ottawa Enraged

Canadians that "France will help them achieve the aims of freedom which they have set themselves."

He needies the federal government with a reference to Quebec's 100 years of oppression under the "English."

FEVOUR NOTED

The statement, issued as a cabinet document but approved by de Gaulle, states:

"General de Gaulle noted the immense French fervor shown everywhere he went."

He noted among French Canadians the unanimous conviction that following the century of oppression which followed the English conquest, the second century which has elapsed under the system known as the British North America Act of 1867 has not assured them liberty, equality and fraternity in their own country."

NO DESIGNS

De Gaulle said it went without saying that France has no designs of leadership or sovereignty in any part of Canada.

"But France founded Canada and administered it alone for two and a half centuries. She shaped it; and there was now a French community of 6,500,000. Therefore, France couldn't disinter herself in the present fate or future of a population which springs from her own people . . ."

The present situation or its replacement by a state of peace."

Eban made no specific peace proposals, and his speech clearly underlined Israel's determination to remain in occupation of the territories it overran in the six-day war until peace in some form eventually emerges. But he did speak of "just solutions which will be to joint benefit and credit of both parties."

The foreign minister said: "It is only natural in the light of our experience that our proposals for such a settlement should reflect a decisive concern."

They had in view cultural, economic, scientific and technical developments needed by the French community to survive on the American continent.

In Ottawa, de Gaulle's statement on first glance, is considered to clear up some of the ambiguity of last week's bombshells in Quebec.

In his statement, there is no encouragement for separation and no suggestion of political intervention.

And that may make it possible for the federal government to swallow its pride over the latest abuse — and keep quiet.

De Gaulle noted the "ardent support everywhere." For more than from France from French-speaking Canadians, after two centuries of physical and moral alienation.

This, he said, was what the Quebec-Paris agreements of the past few years have been all about.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia and Premier Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island could not be reached for comment.

Ukrainian Youth

And Prime Minister Pearson, speaking at Ukrainian Youth Day ceremonies before the French communiqué was released, said Monday the French-speaking minority in Canada "does not need a separate political society to enshrine its cultural and linguistic identity."

He emphasized political unity in a nation in which no racial group is in a minority, because all enjoy equal freedom. Pearson spoke on Ottawa's Parliament Hill before a large crowd.

A reply by Yuri Shymko of Toronto, a leader of the Ukrainian Youth Organization, eaged on the theme.

Most newspaper feature the French government's report on de Gaulle's visit in their headlines.

The Sun adds:

"The Sun's banner says: 'Of all men forget. And President de Gaulle is an old man who has forgotten all that Canada planned and quite deliberate has done for his country.'

"This is the 50th anniversary of Vimy Ridge. It is the 25th anniversary of Dieppe. In each of these terrible battles, Canadians — French and English — gave their lives for free France."

Refuse Comment

A British foreign office spokesman in London declined all comment on the French government's statement about de Gaulle's recent controversial visit to Quebec.

British ministers and officials have throughout maintained strict silence over the controversy.

They said that as Canada is an independent member of the Commonwealth it is not for them to make any public comment.

Memory Fading?

The French government's promise that it intends to help French-speaking Canadians realize "freedom since" is interpreted by the Daily Express as a sign that de Gaulle's memory is fading.

The newspaper, published by Montreal-born Sir Max Aitken, son of the late Lord Beaverbrook, says in an editorial:

"President de Gaulle is suffering from an illusion. This illusion — shown in a statement from Paris last night — that France has a duty to help Quebec realize her aims of freedom."

"The people of Quebec are already free. Free citizens in the free land of Canada."

"The unhappy truth is that all men forget. And President de Gaulle is an old man who has forgotten all that Canada planned and quite deliberate has done for his country."

"This is the 50th anniversary of Vimy Ridge. It is the 25th anniversary of Dieppe. In each of these terrible battles, Canadians — French and English — gave their lives for free France."

Not Unexpected

The Times says the French statement was unexpected.

"There was never much chance that President de Gaulle would apologize for his remarks. His visit to Canada last week was basically to the French."

Canada. They were clearly dominated province of Quebec."

Shotgun Blast Ends Killer's Freedom

WASHOUGAL, Wash. (AP) — Dodson, Ore., across the Columbia River, was found on the Washington shore.

Earlier, an armed man believed to have been Hawkins threatened a couple in a motel room.

PEN MADE KEY

Hawkins was being driven from the Washington State Penitentiary for resentencing in Vancouver Thursday when he escaped. He apparently made a key from a ballpoint pen, using it to unlock his handcuffs.

Police used bloodhounds and set up roadblocks along highways in the Columbia River gorge, but withdrew them Sunday when it appeared Hawkins, who has vowed he will never hang, had eluded police.

What's Life Like In City Ghettos?

The woman, Lindsay said, was symbolic of one side of ghetto life — resignation.

OTHER SIDE

The other side — in New York or any major city — is the youngsters.

"Our society has failed to reach the young men and women, the top-launders and bottle-thrown who have been in the vanguard of almost every outbreak of trouble in our cities," Lindsay said. "The city is not getting to these teenagers."

Patternmakers End Strike

VANCOUVER (CP) — A seven-week strike by 26 patternmakers in the Vancouver area ended Monday when union members voted to accept a new two-year contract with Lower Mainland steel founders.

He told of one middle-aged woman who was sitting on the front steps of her apartment tenement when he visited a New York slum last week.

'SHE NODDED'

"She looked up, neither smiling nor sneering," Lindsay said. "She simply nodded. She probably was on welfare and possibly one of her children already was in jail."

"She wasn't going to start a riot. She had all that taken out of her. She had given up. She had managed to accept, without cynicism, the kind of life she lived."

"Although the sidewalk in front of her was littered, she would not sweep it anymore, if, indeed, she ever had. That is the job of the sanitation department."

"If she had some hope of change, she would not voice it. She would not ask much of anyone, but she would not give much either. In the ghetto, we find that hopelessness and despair are not simply textbook labels."

Montreal Praise

In Montreal, Pierre Bourgault, president of the separatist Rassemblement pour l'indépendance nationale, Monday praised the French communiqué.

Mr. Bourgault, whose group claims the largest separatist following in Quebec province, said the statement was an "example for all Quebecers of what is a sovereign government which stands up and which goes to the very bottom of things which it has started."

The Conservative leader said the de Gaulle statement had cleared up any doubt that the president's remarks in Montreal last Wednesday "were a spontaneous reaction to his reception there."

Greeks Disclose Red Influence

ATHENS (UPI) — An announcement by the Greek military government claimed that communists had penetrated the various trade unions to such an extent as to almost place the general confederation of Greek labor under the control of the Reds.

U.S. Speculation

I. Washington, continuing U.S. comment on President de Gaulle's behavior in Quebec last week includes speculation that the chapter of a weird situation may now be closed unless Ottawa answers back.

But there is at least one warning that de Gaulle's departure from the French political scene might well revive the chaos of the North Republic.

"If what we are witnessing is indeed? Why use anesthesia? Why do any of the things we do medically to make people healthier and more comfortable?"

We know how to take much of the pain away out of menopause, and hormones are one of the important medications for this. Your physician should be consulted to determine the proper treatment in your case.

Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: I make sure that all members of the family have a multiple vitamin every day. My daughter in high school refused because she says it puts on weight. She dared me to write to you. — S.J.W.

Vitamins do NOT put on weight. However, with a properly balanced diet, people get all the vitamins they need or can use from their food.

We don't know the cause of cancer. We just know that it tends to follow some types of irritation: Too much sun and wind, some chemical irritants, fumes, repeatedly irritated flaws such as moles, etc. Some no cause can be detected.

Like any other cancer, it will spread, but on the surface it can be seen before it has time to spread, and can be removed and thus cured. Some are removed surgically, some destroyed by X-ray, depending on location, size, type.

Extending the X-ray treatment would be to make certain that the cancer has been completely eradicated.

The argument of "just let nature take its course" doesn't make sense to me. Why not let an aching tooth ache? Or why use antibiotics to suppress incompletely eradicated.

Forrestal Toll 129

SUBIC BAY (AP)—Officers of the U.S. aircraft carrier Forrestal said Monday night 129 men were killed and seven are still unaccounted for in the fire and bomb explosions that ripped the ship in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam. Sixty-four were injured.

The U.S. navy earlier had said 76 of the crew were dead and 63 were missing and presumed dead. The carrier now is in the Philippines for repairs.

Officials said 21 aircraft were destroyed and 42 damaged out of the 80 planes aboard.

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. warplanes, back to normal strength after a disastrous fire at the aircraft carrier Forrestal, hammered targets in North Vietnam Monday. A lull was reported in the ground fighting in South Vietnam.

The 35,500-ton Intrepid was rushed into the breach in the Gulf of Tonkin caused by the fire and bomb explosions on the 76,000-ton Forrestal Saturday as she prepared to launch planes against North Vietnam.

Intrepid planes joined in the strikes against the North as the Forrestal limped into Subic Bay, the big naval shipyard in the Philippines.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The leaders of Iran, Turkey and Pakistan, in a communiqué issued after a two-day summit conference, said Monday that Israel's withdrawal from captured Arab territories is "essential for the establishment of just and lasting peace in the Middle East."

They also reiterated their firm opposition to the measures taken by Israel to change the status of Jerusalem.

The meeting, held in the Caspian Sea resort of Ramsar, was attended by the Shah of Iran and Iranian Premier Amir Abbas Hoveida. Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan and Premier Suleyman Demirel of Turkey.

Shortly before the Forrestal docked here the cry of "fire! fire!" sounded over her loudspeaker system.

Naval officials ashore said it apparently was a small fire and there were no flames visible when the 76,000-ton carrier docked.

In Washington, the first official casualty list named two men with next-of-kin in St. John's, Nfld.

Kenneth Dale Strain, an aviation boatswain's mate airman, was known dead and John Francis Snow, an aviation structural mechanic, was missing. Their hometowns were not given.

U Thant Gives U.S. Sharpest Rebuke

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—U Thant, United Nations secretary-general, told a huge church rally Sunday night that American forces in Vietnam are pitted not against Communists aggression, but against a struggle for national independence.

The U.S. command normally declines comment on all war claims from Communists supporters. Detailed reports of air strikes against North Vietnam usually are delayed one day before being released.

The Tass report said:

"In recent days American planes have begun to appear more often on the approaches to Hanoi. They use missiles to attack the city's outskirts."

Over North Vietnam Sunday, there were 90 strike missions flown by American pilots.

He called the war "totally unnecessary," and said: "Those Vietnamese who have fought and will fight against foreigners, do so to win their national independence."

The audience included 1,300 Quakers from 34 nations including Canada, representing their historic "peace" church here at their international assembly, and thousands from other churches in this area.

They gave Thant a boisterous standing applause before and after his address.

They also gave him vigorous applause when he called for the inclusion of Communist China in the United Nations.

Prior to the address, Thant told a press conference there could be "meaningful talks within a matter of a few weeks" in Vietnam if the U.S. halted its bombing of the North. If the war goes on indefinitely, he said, there are "grave prospects" that China will become involved.

Speaking of the Middle East crisis, he made a veiled suggestion that the Arabs reconcile themselves to the existence of Israel.

"There is imperative need for making a fresh search for peace in the Middle East so that the rights of all countries in the area may be respected," he said.

He was worried, he said, by what he called the increasing failure of the governments of member countries of the United Nations "to observe the fundamental UN charter injunction to refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force."

Ignored When You Talk?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in social and business advancement and works like magic to give you poise, self confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances there are ways to make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation.

Gibraltar Hold 'Won't Lapse'

LONDON (UPI)—Britain told Spain Monday that British sovereignty over Gibraltar will not lapse, even temporarily, when a referendum is held there to allow Gibraltarians to decide their future.

The Spanish ambassador, the Marques de Santa Cruz, was called to the foreign office to receive an aide-memoire. It was a reply to a Spanish aide-memoire handed to Britain July 3.

Suggesting that the Spanish government "appears to have misunderstood the nature of the referendum, since it apparently supposes that its being held will signify the lapse, either permanent or temporary, of British sovereignty over Gibraltar," the aide-memoire went on:

EXPRESS VIEWS

"What will in fact happen will be that the people of Gibraltar will express their views as to where their interests lie in the knowledge that if they express the view that their interests lie in passing under Spanish sovereignty, the British government will negotiate."

"The dangers inherent in this process can be illustrated by the war in Vietnam as well as by the recent conflict in the Middle East."

England welcomes home the Hon. John Gilby

Arriving home after another International Tour, the Hon. John Gilby remarks on the excellent standards of Gilby's London Dry in Canada. And Gilby's International Quality Controller announces that he will now compare the English Gilby's with its overseas brother:

"My gin has been the best gin in the world for no less than 110 years," says the Hon. John Gilby. "In Canada, for example, I have found that Gilby's London Dry perfectly matches the original English standard. So now I intend to compare our English product with it."

Next time you see Gilby's famous frosty bottle, remember the Hon. John Gilby and his job as Gilby's International Quality Controller. When you see the gin with the perfect balance for mixed drinks, bear in mind his proud words: "This is my gin! For no less than 110 years it has carried my family's name. Gilby's London Dry is the gin with the perfect balance for mixed drinks. And I shall make sure it stays that way."

Wrong to Rush

ATTRACTIVE as may be the private-development plan for a convention centre opposite City Hall, Mayor Hugh Stephen is to be commended for insisting that the alternatives must be thoroughly investigated before city council comes to any decision. There is too much at stake to rush to conclusions. As the mayor says, if the wrong choice is made, Victoria will have to live with it for decades to come.

On one hand, the twin-tower complex proposed for the block bounded by Douglas, Pandora, Blandish and Cormorant, including a hotel, offices and retail shops, as well as a commodious convention centre, would certainly complement the Centennial Square improvement. And the hotel itself would help generate business for the city-leased convention accommodation.

On the other, though, council must consider how the city could get the most for the taxpayers' money, and to do so the aldermen will have to know with some certainty the relative economics of a leased centre in this location and a city-owned centre in either of the other two places that have been recommended, near the Crystal Garden and on the Inner Harbor waterfront.

A rental of between $300,000 and $350,000 for the privately-built centre would presumably be offset to a considerable extent by operating revenue. Yet the equivalent of the deficit might go far toward financing a civic building—especially if, as indicated some senior-government aide were forthcoming.

Nor can council omit to reckon the important side-benefits of building on the waterfront site as an urban-renewal operation. If the property values in this depressed area could be re-elevated, the tax income would accordingly help to pay the costs.

Thus there is a need for more information and more study before a wise decision can be made, and one which is apt to appeal to the ratepayers when they are called upon for their approval. Undue haste could be self-defeating.

Chinese See-Saw

WHEN PEKING broadcast an appeal last week for "the misguided masses to rise up and rebel" against the anti-Mao faction in Wuhan, it was at once admitting a serious defection from what remains of the central authority and a desperation measure to combat it.

Subsequently, Tokyo despatched indicated warships had been sent up the Yang Tze, and that through threat of bombardment the nonconforming military had been induced to make "a self-criticism of its conduct of the past."

But Chairman Mao's problem is with the masses, as well as the powerful elements supporting President Liu Shao-chi. In spite of the Red Guards—or, perhaps, because of them—farmers and factory workers continue to show a reluctance to accept the revolutionary philosophy of the party chairman.

It is an admission of weakness, certainly, that Chairman Mao has abandoned plans for a ninth party congress this summer, and is now calling for such a confrontation a year from now. Only the congress can depose President Liu.

The trouble at Wuhan is a symptom of China's malaise. This is the capital of rich Hupeh, actually a complex embracing three populous industrial cities, Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang. Nor is it an isolated instance of resistance to Mao's politics. In the north and deep in the south, and in key coast areas, there have been continuing disturbances, strikes and bloody factional clashes.

Some observers see the inspired riots in Hong Kong as an effort by the Peking government to distract the nation from its internal troubles. Having tested this strategy in the Portuguese colony of Macao, the Chinese government was able to boast it had reduced the European authority there to the status of a vassal. It presumably hoped for the same success in the British colony. But while the disorders have been an embarrassment and have caused a certain amount of panic, particularly among Chinese investors, the small British enclave so far has not been shaken in its determination to retain control.

The outcome of the power struggle between Mao and Liu is important to Hong Kong. The Liu party is generally considered reactionary, in that it is more inclined to follow the latter-day Russian line of co-existence with the Western world. Such a doctrine suits the British interests in Hong Kong very well indeed.

Every move in the game becomes increasingly significant to the West as first one and then the other side in China appears to be in the ascendancy. If the report of the pacification of Wuhan is correct Chairman Mao seems to be on the high end of the see-saw at the moment. But for how long?

Stricken Giant

THE UNITED STATES armed forces have been beset by misfortune, from the accidental bombardment of friendly villagers and mid-air collisions to this latest tragedy aboard the 75,000-ton aircraft carrier Forrestal, ever since they committed themselves to war in the Far East.

Mishaps are inevitable when thousands of men are dealing with masses of explosives and highly volatile materials of war. But that so small a thing as a dropped aircraft fuel tank could have so tremendous a chain of consequences as in the disaster aboard the Forrestal seems a cruel commentary on the vaunted technological achievements of this age.

Modern war vessels are built with the most sophisticated alarm, flooding, fire and damage control systems the experts can devise.

Short of a direct hit by high explosive it would be supposed they would be relatively safe from anything but storm or collision damage. But obviously such is not the case even in peacetime. It is true Forrestal was at war. But she was not directly engaged. Only her aircraft were preparing to make a strike.

Bout fate struck first. Within seconds of the spark that set the aviation fuel alight, Forrestal's crew was fighting for her life.

Twelve are still missing, presumed dead, 129 are known to have perished, and 97 are variously injured. It is the worst American casualty list since the Second World War, according to word from Washington.

"Jolly bon, M'sieur Drapeau—tell me again how you cut him down to size."

A View from Cairo

Nasser Ranked Among Great Leaders Despite Humiliation in Israeli War

BY PETER WORTHINGTON

WAY back in the dark ages of 1959, three years after the "first" Suez war, I interviewed President Abdel Nasser in Cairo and the memory of it haunted me throughout the latest Arab-Israel crisis.

I was impressed by Nasser, as is everyone who meets him. Without wishing to see Israel destroyed, I had—and still have—a strong sympathy for the Arab cause in the Palestine question.

Now, after enduring Cairo during the recent crisis I find that my views on Nasser and the Arabs coincide with popular sentiment—even though I think the Israel was right to attack first.

Of course Nasser is the villain of the war—the fall guy so to speak. This is as it should be. In politics success is the main virtue, failure the principal sin. And Nasser is the loser and must suffer the consequences.

I believed Nasser back in 1959 when he said: "It wouldn't surprise me if someone came into this room right now and announced that Israel had invaded us... at any moment we expect to be attacked. We can never relax."

Even then he quite candidly admitted that he was using UNEF as a screen behind which he was rebuilding his military.

"The presence of the United Nations has enabled us to recruit our soldiers... we are now a mechanized army and have pointed threats to launch a punitive expedition on Damascus and to force a change of government in Syria."

He added: "Eventually Israel will do something aggressive—they are the ones who have attacked in the past."

And so the conversation went. His boasts about his air force and Egypt's preparedness, gave an ironic ring today, but his feelings seem deep and genuine: that he—and all Arabs—feared Israel.

It's not whether or not Arabs are justified in their fears and hostility: the fact is that they are. This is something that not even the most pacifistic Zionist can deny.

Nasser is vulnerable to criticism—but for the right reasons.

For example, Egypt's actions in the Yemeni civil war are deplorable. The bombing and strafing of Saudi Arabian villages (Nasser's ally against Israel!) where Yemen Royalists reside, plus his use of poison gas, cannot be condoned and shouldn't be gilded over.

Nasser's involvement in Aden is reprehensible. His almost blatant support of the terrorist organization, FLOSY, which is designed to subdue the British.

Feelings RepeatedDe Gaulle Meant It

By Reuters, from Paris

An unofficial translation of the text of the statement issued by the French government Monday on President de Gaulle's recent visit to Canada:

General de Gaulle informed the cabinet of the impressions and conclusions he drew from his recent visit to Quebec. This visit, planned for a long time, took place at the invitation of the prime minister of Quebec, Mr. Daniel Johnson, and his government and on the occasion of the Montreal world's fair which the Canadian government requested the president of the republic to visit.

It was thus that the head of state, as had been planned, and in company with Mr. Daniel Johnson was able to make close contact with the authorities and population of French-speaking Canada throughout his visit.

General de Gaulle took note of the immense French fervor which was seen everywhere he went. He noted among French-speaking Canadians the unanimous conviction that after the century of oppression which followed the English conquest, the second century under the system defined by the British North America Act of 1867 had not assured them liberty, equality and fraternity in their own country.

He was able to judge their determination to achieve, if possible, the evolution that Canada as a whole might eventually accomplish, to dispose of themselves in all respects, and in particular to become master of their own progress, if possible through the evolution of Canada as a whole.

He received from all sides fervent appeals addressed to France to organize and extend further and further its links with the French people of Canada, after 200 years of physical and cultural separation. This is in any case foreseen by the agreements concluded in recent years between the governments of Paris and Quebec, the latter successively headed by Mr. Léage (the former premier) and Mr. Johnson. These agreements are particularly concerned with cultural, economic, scientific and technical development which the French community needs to survive as a community on the American continent.

Noting this indescribable wave of emotion and determination, General de Gaulle unmistakably told the French-speaking Canadians and their government that France intended to help them to realize the freedom aims that they have set themselves.

At the end of his journey, after having travelled through the most moving popular enthusiasm in Montreal, the second French city in the world, and the magnificent universal exhibition being held there, the president of the republic returned to Paris without visiting Ottawa as he had originally accepted to do.

Indeed, a declaration published by the Canadian federal government describing as unacceptable the wish that Quebec should be free, as General de Gaulle had expressed it, made this visit evidently impossible.

It goes without saying that France has no pretensions to leadership nor a desire to sovereignty over all or part of the Canada of today.

But, since she, France, founded Canada and she alone for 2½ centuries administered it, populated it and developed it, since she sees the existence and strong personality there of a French community comprising 6,500,000 inhabitants, of whom 4,500,000 are in Quebec, she most certainly cannot either disintegrate herself in the present and future fate of a population descended from her own people and admirably faithful to their country of origin, or consider Canada as a foreign country in the same sense as others.

Cholera Epidemic on March

CP, from New York

A new epidemic of cholera is on the march in 23 countries, say the editors of Medical World News, with August as the crucial month for its possible entry into Europe.

The last great cholera epidemic circled the world in the first 23 years of this century. The present flare-up began in Indonesia in 1961 and is complicated by the presence of a new cholera bacterium which often infects persons successfully vaccinated against the old variety.

Official World Health Authority figures list 42,000 cases and 4,000 deaths from cholera last year, in a belt from the Middle East to Borneo, off the north Australian coast. But WHO officials say there may be as many as 100 times as many, since some governments keep outbreaks quiet, in case tourist and commercial trade is affected. There are no figures from Communist China, where the disease is believed to have caught hold.

Cholera is a fast-acting disease, varying from diarrhea to dehydration, vomiting and complete collapse. It is contracted by taking food or water contaminated by the fecal matter of other cholera victims. Although most patients recover within a week, half may die if treatment is not available.

Patients' Eyes Supply Lenses

By DR. ALFRED BYRNE, from London

A revolutionary new operation for fitting short-and-long-sighted people with contact lenses ground from the corneal windows of their own eyes was revealed at an international conference on cornea-plastic surgery here.

The technique was described by Dr. Jose Barraquer, of the Barraquer Institute in Bogota, Colombia, who devised it.

Working with the aid of a binocular microscope, he shaves a parallel-faced slice off the front of the cornea with a tiny electric knife.

This sliver of cornea is mounted, inner side upward, on a rotatory disc and frozen to make it hard.

Then, as in grinding a contact lens, a lathe is used to carve out of the cornea a lens of the exact optical power necessary to correct the patient's visual defect.

Finally, the corneal lens is replaced in its bed, and situated in position.

An advantage of the procedure is that it should enable selected patients to avoid having to wear powerful spectacles. So far, it has brought improved vision to 80 per cent of the patients operated on.

Those most suitable for it are people whose defect is more pronounced in one eye than the other. The correction rate is 94 per cent for such patients.

Prescriptions Cause AddictionBy CHRISTINE DOYLE
From London

While young "pot" smokers and amphetamine-takers are filling headlines, adults are easily sinking deeper and deeper into their own addiction.

Dr. M. M. Glatz, who treats addicts at St. Bernard's Hospital, Southall, Middlesex, warns that barbiturate abuse and addiction are being overlooked.

Among the middle-aged, he says in the British Medical Journal, large numbers are either over-using sleeping pills or are already addicted to them. He says: "Barbiturates are prescribed in Britain in enormous quantities increasing year by year from 15,000,000 in 1961 to 17,000,000 in 1965."

This problem among the middle-aged is second only to alcoholism, he says. Despite from barbiturates by suicide have risen from $15 in 1956 to 1400 in 1965, and deaths from these drugs by accident have risen in those years from 140 to 525.

Middle-aged women, mostly housewives with no respite from the "stress of boredom," are the main victims. They cannot escape to a pub and instead, ask their doctors for sleeping pills.

Just as alcohol releases inhibitions, so sleeping pills dispel worries and induce a pleasant,azy state.

The danger lies in over-use,

Riots May Decide 1968 U.S. Election*'White Backlash' AssessedBy ROBERT J. DONAVAN
From Washington

Following the Detroit riots the dominant question being asked in both U.S. political parties is whether the "white backlash" might grow so powerful as decisively to affect the 1968 presidential election.

In the political turmoil stirred by this summer's disorders the initial reaction among many politicians is that President Johnson has been hurt and that California Gov. Ronald Reagan has become a stronger contender for the Republican nomination.

It also seems more likely than ever that George Wallace, former governor of Alabama, will run for president on what would essentially be a white supremacy ticket. Every riot produces more fuel for his candidacy.

The theory that Johnson has been hurt is not based simply on the published criticism that he unfairly tried to blame Michigan Gov. George Romney for the breakdown in public order in Detroit or that federal troops were too late getting into action.

Beyond that, the President has been hurt, politicians feel, because he is the incumbent and thus bound to catch resentment from all sides. In the present mood of the country, it is felt, 1968 may be a very bad year for the "ins" everywhere.

In the public anger over the riots some voters give the President a failing grade for progress, development and, consequently, liberation.

The theory that Reagan has been strengthened rests on the supposition that white voters will be in a mood by 1968 to back a non-nonsense conservative candidate who will stand four-square for preserving the American way of life.

It is not that Reagan has done anything to suppress the Negro revolt. His appeal to many white voters lies rather in the image he conveys of being a governor who will not tolerate bad guys shooting up the streets.

When he spoke last week of the Detroit disorders as "riots of the lawbreakers and the mad dogs against the people" he was talking in accents mighty congenial to many voters frightened by the violence.

Even without the riots Reagan was undoubtedly gaining ground in the race for the Republican nomination, and the skyrocketing issue of "lawlessness" gives him greater impetus.

Public opinion surveys that are continually being made for the Republican National Committee showed in the last few days that lawlessness is approaching the Vietnam war as the leading national political issue.

In Michigan Romney, who is one of the top contenders for the Republican nomination, was doubtless helped by the President's White House broadcast seeming to blame him for failure to maintain order. The President's tactics were widely resented in Detroit and elsewhere.

In the long-run, however, Romney too may suffer from being the incumbent in a state torn by racial disorder. Furthermore he was in the early stages of the riot, and he did not quite come across, in the way Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York did, for example, as the leader working in his shirt sleeves to stop the trouble.

In particular the presence of the backlash is proved by two currents in Congress.

One is the vehement determination to pass legislation aimed at riots and the lag in interest in legislation to improve conditions in the city.

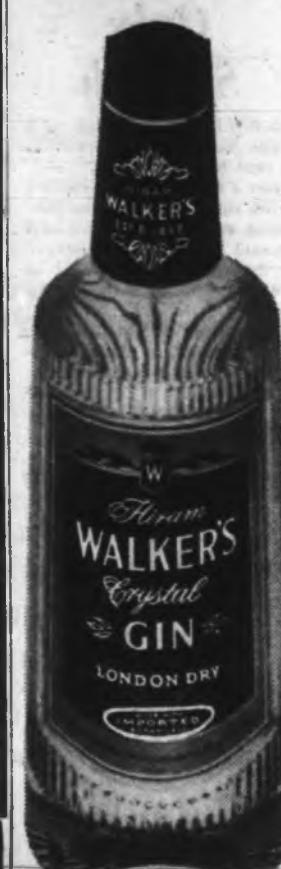

The other is the resolute determination that areas summer and next, the backlash will probably be the major factor in the 1968 campaign.

Whether partying, or serving drinks, Canadians are good mixers. And we like to serve gin with good mixers, from tonic and ginger ale to fruit juices and vermouths.

So the gin right for good mixers must have the right amount of flavour, bouquet and dryness to stand up in some drinks and sit back in others.

Hiram Walker's Crystal is the gin made for good mixers. Like you and you. And you and you.

Coho, Pinks Boost Catches

King Fisherman

With the run of pink salmon now building up in Juan de Fuca Strait, King Fisherman anglers are reminded they may enter them into The Daily Colonist Contest as spring salmon.

No pink salmon will be big enough to win a trophy, but each fish entered means another chance on hidden-weight prizes.

Sport anglers don't often hook into a coho salmon, but occasionally they take one — and these also may be entered in the spring (Chinook) salmon division, for hidden-weight prizes.

Just as a matter of interest to

Sherry Only Spanish

LONDON (Reuters) — A judge has upheld the sanctity of real Spanish sherry. But Justice Sir Geoffrey Cross ruled fortified wine produced outside Spain can still be sold in Britain as sherry — if the word on the label is prefixed with the name of its country.

His verdict is that the word "sherry" standing alone normally means a wine from the Jerez district of Spain and not the produce of any other area."

Seattle Boat Winner

EDMONDS, Wash. (AP) — Gordon Showell of Seattle was declared overall winner Sunday of the 86-mile international cruiser race run Saturday from Victoria to Edmonds, Wash. Showell, representing the Seattle Yacht Club, piloted his High Cotton over the current-ridden course in an elapsed time only 1.07 per cent of predictions.

Other winners in the 34th running of the predicted-log race were:

Class 1: Less than 8.4 knots — Jim Hanna, Tacomia Yacht Club, Santa Rosa, 9:06; Class 2: 8.5 to 9.2 knots — Ed Donohue, Seattle, Y.C., Baronesse, 1:16; Class 3: 9.3 to 10.8 knots — Dr. L. F. Marshall, Burrard Y.C., Jaro, 1:20; Class 4: 10.9 to 11.3 knots — Jerry Bryant, Seattle Y.C., Alexa II, 1:32; Class 5: Faster than 13.3 knots — Charles King, Edmonds Y.C., Sea King, 1:23.

King Fisherman

determine what kind of fish are being taken, anglers are asked to record on a button form whether it is a spring, pink or sockeye.

There was a pretty good run of coho through Juan de Fuca at the weekend and most boats were able to record at least one or two pink or coho. Peeler Bay was one of the best spots for coho.

ONLY 12 RECORDED

It was scratch fishing in Saanich Inlet Sunday when 38 Chinook Club anglers recorded only 12 fish in the Dr. Hugh Clarke Sportman's Derby for Chinook Club members.

Trophy winner was Bob Braudwood with a 13.15-pound spring (chinook) salmon. Second was Paul Cocco with a 13.6-pounder, third R. G. Fleming with an 8.1-pounder and fourth Sid Upton with a 7.4-pounder.

Langford Gardener Challenges Victoria

Victoria gardeners may be good, but those from Langford to Metchosin are better, a Langford gardener has declared. Kenneth Hincks of 760 Goldstream, challenged gardeners Monday from Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich to put their fruit and vegetables in competition with the best of Langford and district.

Drink Law Starts Today

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lower Mainland police as far north as Powell River and as far east as Hope will start today to enforce the new drinking law. Under the law, which has been in effect in Victoria since early April, a driver suspected of being under the influence of alcohol must surrender his license for 24 hours if asked by a policeman.

The driver's only alternatives are to prove sobriety by a breathalyzer test or to accept a traffic summons and contest the case in court.

Many cars sell for about the same price as Quick-Size Chevelle

But after that, it's a different story. The Chevelle story. The Quick-Size Chevelle is the favorite choice of the 'get with it' generation. For very good reasons. Its every line bespeaks spirit... action, adventure. A sweetheart to 'get with it' with.

You'll love Chevelle's nimble 115-inch wheelbase (that's four inches shorter than the full-size cars, about five inches longer than compacts). Best of both worlds. Easy mid-town manoeuvring and parking. Gliding comfort on out-of-town trips. Chevelle transports you... smoothly.

Chevelle sends you stylishly, too... with a choice of 11 models in 3 series. This beauty begins with the budget-minded Chevelle 300 series, steps up in luxury through the Malibu series and peaks with the unique sports-styling of the exciting SS 396.

Models galore. Family-slanted 2- and 4-door sedans and station wagons. Sophisticated sport coupes and sedans. 'Free as the breeze' convertibles.

Every Chevelle is as distinctive as its owner is discriminating. A pride to possess.

Driving weather's great right now and there are great things to see, to visit during Canada's Centennial year. Don't miss any of it. Now's the time to 'get with it'... with an exciting new Chevelle. Drop in to your Chevrolet dealer's and see why, although many cars sell for about the same price as the Quick-Size Chevelle...

Steel Dynasty Ended by Death

Krupp

ESSEN, West Germany (AP)—Alfred Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, one of Europe's richest men and the last of the Krupp industrial dynasty which ruled here for 136 years, died Sunday night.

His company announced Monday he died after a short, incurable illness. The illness was not further identified, but an associate implied cancer.

Krupp, 59, had been confined to his home for several weeks suffering from what friends said was a bronchial ailment.

LIVED ALONE

Krupp, twice married and twice divorced, lived alone in the 15-room ranch-style house he had built on the family estate on the outskirts of Essen. His only son, Alfried, 29, ended a yacht trip with his mother when he got word of the death.

Krupp's funeral is scheduled. Today in the Villa Hugel, the massive 260-room mansion where he was born Aug. 13, 1907. His mother, Bertha Krupp, for whom the First World War German siege gun Big Bertha was named, supervised the strict upbringing suitable for the boy who would one day take over the family firm.

SHY, RESERVED

Friends said this firm training in a household run by 300 servants, accounted for Krupp's lifelong shyness and reserve. This was intensified by his war crimes conviction and imprisonment after the Second World War on grounds of exploiting slave labor.

In 1951, Krupp was released from prison. His confiscated properties, bombed and dismantled, were returned to him and he immediately set about rebuilding.

At the time of his death he employed more than 100,000 persons and his company's annual sales were near the $1,250,000,000 level. He vowed in 1951 that the firm never again would build arms.

His son already has renounced inheritance of the Krupp concern, and plans to turn it into a public corporation are not expected to be changed because of Krupp's death.

Union Carbide President:

Recession Trend Stronger

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

The slowdown in the Canadian economy has become more pronounced as 1967 has progressed, says J. S. Dewar, president of Union Carbide Canada Ltd.

This has hampered the growth of domestic business and, while U.S. export sales have risen, this has not been sufficient to offset the drop in the home market. Mr. Dewar does not expect the net income for the year to reach the level of 1966.

Half-year earnings of $4,675,000 (47 cents) compared with $5,865,000 (57 cents) a year ago, although sales were up 17 per cent.

BANK HELPS BREND

The Bank of Nova Scotia ($25,000,000), Noranda Mines Ltd. ($27,500,000) and Nippon Mining Co. ($7,500,000) are to provide the capital required to bring Brenda Mines into production.

96, more than four points below its issue price.

The holders of these bonds will hardly applaud the new issue because of the market pattern it sets for all Bell bonds but the high rate of the current offering clearly indicates that those who want to borrow long term have to pay through the nose to raise it.

GAS PRICE CUT

The price of gasoline in the Montreal area has been reduced two cents a gallon by Imperial Oil and Texaco Canada. The new price is 41 cents a gallon for regular grade.

BELL RAISES RATE

A new issue by Bell Telephone consists of $45,000,000 6% percent bonds due to mature in 25 years. It is being offered at par.

The high rate in itself is interesting because it reflects the continued deterioration of the bond market in Canada since earlier this year.

In March, Bell Telephone marketed a very similar type of bond. It carried an interest rate of 6 1/4 per cent or half a percentage point less than the current one — and it was offered at 100%. The yield was thus about 6.23 per cent, and the maturity was only four years less than the current offering.

OVERPRICED?

It is true the March issue did not sell well. Many experts believe it was overpriced, and the market value slipped gradually until it is currently about

Richter Urges Expansion

Market Growing For B.C. Produce

B.C. is looking toward expanding markets for farm produce in the U.K. and European markets, Agriculture Minister Richter said Monday.

The minister issued a statement calling on B.C. producers and processors to work together to "expand our fruit and vegetable industry as quickly as possible."

Meanwhile, marketing commissioner M. M. Gilchrist said U.K. inquiries for 150,000 pounds of frozen loganberries have been dropped because they can't be filled here. Officials fear that the market will dry up if the shortage becomes chronic.

FIRM ORDER

B.C. loganberry producers, mainly located on southern Vancouver Island, have received a firm order of 220,000 pounds of frozen loganberries with the first shipment due to leave Vancouver next week.

This province produces about 1,000,000 pounds of loganberries annually and most of the crop goes to wineries. Mr. Gilchrist urged growers to increase their acreage to satisfy demands of the growing U.K. market.

Mr. Gilchrist said the entry of Britain into the European Common Market would not immediately affect B.C. agriculture.

Settlement Ends Threat of Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—A strike, the settlement is put to a membership vote.

Major issue in the dispute was parity wages with Air Canada machinists. The union is seeking a 25-per-cent increase on the present wage rate of $3,17, plus other fringe benefits.

A joint union-management agreement said a memorandum of understanding was signed to cover all issues in the dispute.

Union representatives, who had slated a walkout for today, said details of the settlement, hammered out following negotiations that continued all weekend, would not be released until a conciliation report.

Majority Proposals Short Of Lake Sailors' Demands

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal conciliation board report clearing the way for possible strike action next Monday by 5,000 sailors on the Great Lakes and East Coast was issued Monday by Labor Minister Nicholson's office.

As expected, the majority report of the board fell short of meeting demands by the Seafarers' International Union of Canada for adoption of the 40-hour work week in the shipping industry.

The report by Chairman Louis

Fine of Toronto and the company representative, Toronto lawyer J. W. Healy, made proposals on wages and hours which it estimated to be worth in excess of 30 per cent above present pay scales.

SIC WARNING

The SIU has warned that it will pull its members off 170 vessels, comprising practically the entire inland shipping industry, if their working-hour demands are not met.

Lions Choose Ohler To Back Up Faloney

VANCOUVER — Coach Dave Skrien's import quarterbacking has been with the club since the start of the training season. The move left the Lions as the only CFL club without an import signal-caller. Faloney, who came to Canada 12 years ago from the University of Maryland, is listed as a Canadian.

Lions altered their roster to the Canadian Football League limit of 18 Canadian and 14 import players on Sunday by releasing five players. The list unexpectedly included both Paul Brothers and Tom Roth, the Forced to pass on Roy Shatzko, versatile 27-year-old lineman who had given the Lions valuable service as a utilityman.

Shatzko lost out to defensive-end Bill Button, one of the five Canadian rookies who were released.

Others released Sunday were offensive-end Dave Moton, a rookie star last season when he led the Lions with 42 pass receptions, and Steve Shafer, who spent five years with the Lions as a defensive back and reserve quarterback.

Shafer lost his job when Skrien decided to keep two rookie defence-callers — Craig Murray and Grant Martinson of Utah State — and Moton lost out to a combination of halfback and fullback.

Tonight's exhibition football game between B.C. Lions and Calgary Stampeders can be heard on radio stations CKNW (690) starting at 8 p.m.

Leroy Sledge and split-end Paul Burleson, former University of Oregon star who was a standout with Eugene Bombers of the PFL last season.

The late acquisition of Sledge put Moton into competition with Burleson for the split-end job.

"Burleson runs and hustles all the time and Moton didn't," Skrien said.

Latest cuts followed the release of four rookie imports Saturday — halfback Ammon McWashington and linemen Allan Landmark, who went to Hamilton Tiger-Cats, and fullback Warren Jackson and guard Earl Wood.

MOST CHANGED CLUB

Skrien's selections make the Lions the most changed club in the CFL this season with 11 rookies and three newcomers.

Rookies include Canadians Len Horst, Len Ferguson, Ted Gevelis, Jerry West, Eddie Sledge, Burleson, Murray, Martinson and Dwayne Coopas. Newcomers are all Canadians — Faloney, Ohler and halfback Jim Young.

Carnarvon Wins B.C. Pony Crown

Carnarvon All-Stars breezed into Sunday, downing Triangle All-Stars, 62, at Triangle Park.

The win moves Carnarvon into the best-of-three area final against Portland next weekend at Carnarvon Park.

Ricky Smith, who gave up six hits and a shutout going until the losers rallied for two runs with two out in the last inning.

Leadoff batter Mike Weatherhead had a perfect day at the plate, rapping four hits and scoring three times. Walter Burrows drove in two runs while getting two hits.

MCC Too Strong For Canada's Best

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's all-star cricket team rallied briefly Monday but still lost a three-day test match by a lopsided score to Britain's touring Marylebone Cricket Club.

Starting with four outs and only 29 runs in their second inning, Canada scored 143 runs in fewer than two hours before the side was all out, giving the team a total of 333 runs for its two innings. Marylebone scored 355 in only one innings, batting late Saturday and most of Sunday.

Marylebone bowler Dan Plauchaud, who retired three batters on consecutive balls in one over Sunday, finished the second innings by taking a total of eight

Ex-Red Wing Star Still Faces Prison

DETROIT (AP) — A U.S. prison sentence handed down 23 years ago for draft-dodging, but never served, still stands for former Detroit Red Wing defenceman Jimmy Orlando.

A motion in federal court for remission of the one-year prison term for draft-dodging during the Second World War was denied by a U.S. District Judge Theodore Levin on the grounds such a decision is not within the power of his court.

GOT DEFERMENT

In 1944 Orlando, now living in Montreal, was convicted of making false statements that affected his draft classification and got him a deferment from military service.

Orlando went to Canada on an appeal bond to visit his critical ill mother during the appeal of his conviction, according to Justice Levin. But when the U.S. Court of Appeals affirmed his conviction, the Detroit hockey star failed to appear to begin his sentence.

A warrant for his arrest is still outstanding, Judge Levin ruled.

In filing for remission of his sentence, Orlando claimed he never intended to evade military service. He served in the Canadian Army after his U.S. conviction and was honorably discharged.

Orlando, now 51, owns two cafes in Montreal. His wife is still a U.S. citizen.

"I was very hopeful I wouldn't be drafted this time," Orlando said. "It's hard on my wife and the kids when I can't visit her relatives in the States."

Ball Returns Linesman Doesn't

MELBOURNE, (AP) — A prisoner acting as linesman at a prison football match northeast of Melbourne Sunday, is himself still out of bounds.

The prisoner, John Francis Maroney, 28, was serving a three-year term.

Spectators at the football match, between a jail team and a college side from nearby Warrnambool, New Zealand, ran into a bush around the oval after a ball.

It was several minutes before it was realized Maroney had not followed the ball back into play.

DID YOU KNOW?

Today is the deadline for entries and it is certain that not more than a handful of three-to the starting tee.

Of the first 137 entries received, there were 40 golfers listed at scratch or better, 33 playing to a one handicap and 33 playing to a two.

Preference is given to the lower-handicap golfers except in the rare instances when a Willingdon Cup golfer has a

Graham Wins First Turney

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Lou Graham, a 29-year-old pro from Nashville, Tenn., won the $20,000 first prize Sunday with a two-under-par 286 in the Minnesota golf classic at suburban Hazeltine golf course.

Graham shot an even-par 72 for the final 18 holes to nip Bob Verwey of South Africa, who

Mack Title To North Van

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (UPI)—North Vancouver made a two-game sweep of the B.C. Connie Mack baseball finals Sunday, defeating Vancouver-Victoria Drive 3-2 and 5-2.

The first win over the previously unbeaten Vancouver squad forced a final game.

North Vancouver now goes on to represent B.C. in the Northwest regional tournament, to be held in Seattle Aug. 11-13.

Coquitlam Captures B.C. Babe Ruth Title

COQUITLAM — Saanich Evening Optimist All-Stars couldn't solve the pitching of Garth Hurst Sunday with the result that Coquitlam won the B.C. Babe Ruth championships for 13-year-olds, 7-1.

Optimists managed only four hits off Hurst while Coquitlam pounded Fred King, the loser. Bob Mum and Tim McManus for a total of 15 hits.

Coquitlam had advanced to the final of the knockout competition with a semi-final win over Vancouver Little Mountain while Saanich had defeated South Burnaby Collingwood.

Fred King, Bob Mum (3), Tim McManus (8) and Randy Johnson; Garth Hurst and Jeff Bassett.

Top stock eliminator was Dave Johnson of Courtenay while Mel Butler of Victoria was first in the street eliminator competition.

Cliff West defeated Don Hackwood in the best-of-three super-stock eliminator runs while Bruce Lorimer was pure stock eliminator champion.

Dave Johnson and Mel Butler both defeated Rod Van De Grit in The Unbeatable Corvette with the aid of handicaps.

Bannister and Landy To Unveil Race Statue

VANCOUVER (CP) — Roger Bannister and John Landy will meet again at Empire Stadium here Sept. 27 — this time in non-competitive roles — to unveil a statue commemorating their record broken for the first time by the two men.

The statue of Australia's him to win the British Empire Games medal for the mile. Both had previously run the stance in under four minutes. Landy held the previous record of 3:58 while Bannister was clocked at 3:58.8 and Landy at 3:59.6 for 3:59.4.

Courtroom Parade

A Victoria youth arrested Saturday night after a hair-raising, 4½-mile chase of a motorcycle through darkened Oak Bay streets was fined $500 in central magistrate's court Monday for dangerous driving.

Warren Walls, 20, of 2554 Prior, told arresting officers he Walls' conduct as "wicked, got scared, and he had criminal."

Walls also was prohibited from driving for 18 months.

As a result, he took off at speeds up to 80 miles per hour, ran several stop signs and caution lights and took to a sidewalk for half a block, with a 17-year-old girl as his passenger.

"It was simply miraculous she didn't fall, or wasn't killed or maimed," Magistrate Ostler said, describing William Ostler said, describing

Police Car Eluded

The evidence showed he had accelerated to beat a light at Port and Cook at 10:30 p.m. Friday, then eluded a police patrol car that attempted to stop him.

The following night a patrol car attempted to stop him on Cook near Balmoral where he took off, raced for several blocks and pulled into a driveway on Fernwood, dousing his headlights. In this chase, he ran two red lights and a stop sign.

A married couple who exchanged right crosses in public at Pandora and Government July 2 was fined $25 each.

Leo Cross of 2631 Rose pleaded guilty to fighting with his wife Mary outside a beer parlor. His wife had pleaded guilty earlier.

Asleep in His Car

The car stalled and left 24 feet of rubber on the pavement. The other charge, to which he also pleaded guilty arose from his being found sleeping in his car July 16, with a partially consumed bottle of liquor under the spare tire.

A. B. Taylor had six months added to the sentence he is serving after pleading guilty earlier to obtaining lodging by fraud.

CENTENNIAL, N.S. (CP) — This Cape Breton community Saturday held Canada's only Centennial centennial.

Centennial, which has five families and a post office, celebrated with foot races, a pipe band, horse and buggy rides and a queen crowning.

Two Firsts in Water Skiing

Son Follows Dad's Example

The son of a former Canadian and British Empire diving champion won the Canadian over-all boys' water ski championship and broke the jump record Sunday at Elk Lake.

Kelowna's 15-year-old George Athans is the son of Dr. George Athans, a former Canadian and British Empire diving champion who was an Olympic competitor in post-war years.

Sunday Athans twice broke Canadian junior water ski jump records during the Canadian national championships which started Friday and ended Sunday evening.

His jumps of 95 feet and 100 feet broke the 93-foot junior record set two years ago by Claude Page of Quebec.

Athans retained his national over-all championship.

A wind, which sprang up just after Athans' performance cut about 20 feet off the men's jumps, with the best by Rodney Tipton of B.C. only 4 feet beyond the Athans mark.

Despite the breeze, officials said the quality of skiing was high, and Victor Shemilt, president of the Victoria club, said he hoped the moving of the national championships away from eastern Canada would set a precedent.

Patsy Muirhead of Manitoba retained her over-all girls' championship and Valla Hogan is again women's champion.

In the men's divisions, Bob McGee of Ontario won the senior men's championship from B.C.'s Rudy Tushek, and Jean Perrault of Quebec retained his Canadian men's over-all championship.

Some 1,500 ears jammed the lake area as spectators filled all vantage points.

The meet was organized by the B.C. Water Ski Association and the Victoria Aqua Ski Club. Results:

Pup Finds Home in Oak Bay

Orphaned Seal Receives Special Imported Care

Nothing but the best for Tiny Tim — his tender loving care is imported.

The little harbor seal, believed to be about three weeks old, was brought to the Undersea Gardens on Saturday. He seemed to have been abandoned on nearby rocks.

Less than two feet long, he is being forced a mixture of vitamins, milk and mashed herring every two hours. Divers are trying to teach him to eat herring pieces, so far with little success.

Nancy Marshall, 2540 Windsor Avenue, one of the guides, has been studying the care of seals in her spare time at university this past year.

However, the staff is busy at this time of the year showing visitors through. For this reason,

Tim nursed Safy, a Seattle baby seal, until he became a thriving pup. A week ago he was presented with a trophy by the Seattle Society for Needy Animals for his kindness.

TINY TIM

Tiny Tim, believed to be a male, delights in chasing other marine life in the 2,000-square-foot area.

The pampered seal has a small raft floating in the exhibit area so he can get in lengthy sunbaths.

The divers hope to train Tiny Tim to perform with them in the display pool, but first they must teach him to eat herring, or there will be danger of the seal eating most of the other sea life in the exhibit.

If that happened, he would have to be banished to the seal pen with Herbie, which wouldn't be half as much fun.

Robbery While Armed

Youths Ordered to Trial

Two Victoria youths were committed for trial by judge and jury on charges of robbery while armed with an offensive weapon, following a preliminary hearing in central magistrate's court Monday.

John C. Andrew, 21, of 888 Millgrove and Roy A. MacLaren, 21, of 888 Phoenix, were charged with the knifepoint robbery of Roy Lansdale of 1136 Johnson in a downtown hotel July 21.

Magistrate William Ostler did not agree with the Crown's original charge of robbery with violence, saying it was "sort of remote control violence," and found for the other charge.

WENT TO ROOM

The evidence showed the unemployed youths had met Mr. Lansdale in the morning in a beer parlor. The 55-year-old man recently returned from working on the oil rig off the west coast of Vancouver Island, bought them beer and lunch, and Andrew had $70, $65 of it in his shoe.

SILENT IN COURT

Detectives testified the youths had asked for advice on changing their election and plea July 24, while in Wilkinson Road jail, but the youths remained silent on the subject at the hearing.

They were undefended and declined to question any Crown witnesses or present any defense witnesses.

Andrew asked for reduction of the $10,000 bail, so he could request, saying the "amount of work and get myself a law-bail was not set capriciously," in view of the seriousness of the charge.

Magistrate Ostler refused the charge.

She used to be bothered by backaches and tired feelings. When she learned that irritation of the bladder and urinary tract could result in backaches and tired feelings, she took Doddie's Kidney Pills. Smart girl! Doddie's Pills stimulate the kidneys to help remove the irritating backache and tired feeling. Soon she felt better—much better, in fact. She is very happy because Doddie's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Doddie. New large size saves money.

Andy shows Astrid De Waal and Robert Christiansen where he saw Mrs. Kerr

Playing Hide, Seek

Woman Saved by Boy, 3

A sharp-eyed three-year-old boy playing hide-and-seek Monday afternoon saved an elderly woman from drowning in Selskirk Water.

Andy Leemaster of 727 Craigflower and his six-year-old brother, John, were playing a supervised game of hide-and-seek in Barfield Park at Craigflower and Raynor when Andy noticed a woman lying in the water about 20 feet from shore.

Mrs. Edith Kerr, 79, of 1121 Catherine, had been walking along the shoreline at the end of the park shortly after 3 p.m. and slipped on the rocks and tumbled into the water.

The brush-topped youngster bolted from his hiding place and told his discovery to Astrid De Waal, assistant playground supervisor, who rushed with 14-year-old Robert Christiansen, 634 Pine, down the steep bank to help the stricken woman.

Robert waded out to Mrs. Kerr, whose clothing was entangled in a dead branch and pulled her free. He and Miss De Waal hauled the woman ashore.

Mrs. Kerr was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital by city police, and is in satisfactory condition suffering shock.

"The lady could have easily drowned," said the assistant supervisor. "When we reached her she seemed to have difficulty holding her head out of the water."

She explained that when the three-year-old boy told her what he had seen, he was immensely frightened.

"I imagine it was a frightening experience for him to suddenly see a lady lying in the water," she said.

Nobody could find out from Andy if he saw Mrs. Kerr fall in or not. All he would say was, "I ran and told some boys."

Some 65 youngsters of varying ages are taking part in the summer playground program at Barfield Park.

Hide-and-seek is played regularly in the park as part of the program.

"It's one of the more popular games, and when the accident happened, about 15 players were taking part," Miss De Waal said.

Wickheim Grip

Holds Firm
On World Title

By KEN WARREN

The great American threat fizzled and went 'splash' 24 times in Hayward, Wis., during the weekend as Wickheim control of world log-rolling moved into its 13th consecutive year.

Sunday, Ardell Wickheim of Sooke captured his fourth world log-rolling crown at the annual lumberjack world championships.

It was also the 13th world crown taken by history's two greatest birlers, Sooke's Wickheim brothers, during the past 13 years.

Jubiel Wickheim has captured nine world crowns.

And invariably, the years in which Jubiel won, Ardell placed second, and vice-versa.

But this year American hopes fashed when it was announced that Jubiel, because of Expo commitments, couldn't attend the championships.

Birling association headquarters in Chicago listed two dozen "top-flight" American birlers who were out to make Ardell swim.

It was the American's best year for birlers, and they were making the best of a good thing.

But when the competitions were over, Ardell, the lone Canadian at Hayward, was the only dry man in the place.

THE DAILY BRITISH COLONIST.

August 1, 1867

Bad News from HMS Scout — Private advice from Panama announces that Dr. Sprout and 19 of the men have died of yellow fever which is raging with fatal violence in all South American ports. The Scout left Panama July 1 to enjoy the more salubrious and healthful climate of Vancouver Island.

Late Fruit — A quantity of late cherries and other small fruit will be sent below on the Active today. It is believed the fruit will meet with ready sale at San Francisco, where the local supply is exhausted for this year.

Admiral Hastings has issued an order that no more of his men shall be sent out to work with the chain gang. We regard this as an eminently proper order. We have never been able to see the propriety of herding gallant Jack Tar who might be guilty of indecencies or minor offences against naval regulations with criminals of the blackest moral hue. Certainly, no more effectual mode of rendering them forever unfit for Her Majesty's service could have been devised than sentencing them to the chain gang.

Traffic congestion would be almost inevitable and the capital costs would be very heavy.

The possibility of government grants for a project in that area was not good, said Ald. Frampton. It was unlikely that anything in the way of a centre would materialize in less than five years, and it might take seven. Meanwhile, the city was losing convention revenue.

Ald. Frampton represented a point of view strongly held in the city, Ald. Ian Stewart admitted, but he spoke as though the convention centre business was going to dry up in a year or so and this was hardly the case.

The mayor reiterated his strongly-held view that it was well to take time in order to avoid costly mistakes that the city might have to live with for half a century or more.

Distinction Needed

Hubert Bevan, proprietor of the Crystal Court Motel, said Monday he is not certain what form it will take, but he intends to take some action against the city to stop the variety show at the Crystal Garden on Sunday nights.

Mr. Bevan said he went to City Hall to lay an information against the city on Monday, but was told if he intended to proceed under the Lord's Day Act, he would have to get permission from the attorney-general.

"That is where the matter stands at the moment, and I am looking further into the affair. Certainly I am going to take some action," he added.

GUESTS DISTURBED

John Martyn Booker's Crystal Eye variety show is the performance which rouses Mr. Bevan's wrath.

Not only the noise of the show but the noise made by patrons as they leave the building disturbs the guests in his nearby motel, he says.

"I'm really annoyed at this, and I think it's all wrong for the city to break the law as it is doing in this case," Mr. Bevan observed.

NOTHING OFFICIAL

Officials at City Hall said Monday they had some information that Mr. Bevan was contemplating action, but had received nothing official from him or his solicitors.

They pointed out that a conviction under the Lord's Day Act could have far-reaching consequences. The Crystal Eye show was not the only entertainment offered in Victoria on Sunday. For that matter, Sunday entertainment could include all the sightseeing services offered to tourists.

Wedding Bells Peal In Midsummer

Moore-Thomas

An heirloom sapphire and diamond ring, originally belonging to the groom's mother, was "something old" for Joanne Evelyn Thomas for her recent marriage to Dennis Stephen Henry Moore.

The bride's floor-length sheath gown was styled in cage fashion with lace. A sabrina neckline and sleeves tipping the elbows enhanced the slim lines of the gown. Soft fullness at the back extended into a cathedral train. Her headpiece of pearl fabric flowers, shimmering with pearls and rhinestones, held the four-tier wedding veil which misted to a chapel-length, and she carried yellow roses with ivy in her cascade bouquet.

White carnations with fern were at the altar of St. Michael's and All Angels Church for the ceremony which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Thomas, 484 Scarborough Road, and the son of Mrs. E. E. Moore, Vancouver, and the late Evans Moore. Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh officiated.

Gallo-Lyness

Appliques of Alencon lace starred the empire bodice of the floor-length gown worn by Patricia Jean Lyness when she became the bride of Michael Lewis Gallo recently.

The gown featured a batiste neckline and elbow-length sleeves. A full court train, draped softly from the shoulders, enhanced the slim skirt. The only jeweled accent to the gown was a diamond pendant, sometimes "borrowed" from the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. L. Camp, and her tiered veil of silk illusion net misted from a headpiece fashioned of a tiny rosette. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses, stephanotis and ivy.

First United Church was decorated with stocks and gladioli in gold and cream shades, for the ceremony conducted by Rev. R. Morris. Organist was Mrs. Ursula Bunt, and soloist Mrs. A. McColl.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. James William and Mr. Thomas gave his daughter in marriage.

Maid of honor, Miss Sharon Flick wore a gown of pale green crystal charm, styled with bodice and sleeves of green lace. Her headpiece of tulle was carried a cascade bouquet of white and yellow chrysanthemums. Bridesmaid, sister of the bride, Miss Patricia Thomas, chose a similar outfit in yellow.

Bob Armstrong was best man, and ushering the guests was the bride's brother, Donald Thomas.

Peter Thomas proposed the toast to his daughter at the reception following in the Thomas' Scarborough Road home.

The newlyweds will make their home at 1724 Newton Road, when they return from a honeymoon at Parksville. For travelling the bride donned a suit in yellow and white.

The groom's mother, Mrs. E. E. Moore and the bride's grandfather, J. Thomas of Calgary were among the guests.

Bourassa-Marshall

The wedding ring which had belonged to both her grandmother and great-grandmother was the "something old" token for Patricia Alice Marshall when she became the bride of Aurel Joseph Francois Bourassa.

Flowers in an all-white theme, astilbe and marguerite daisies, gladioli, roses and gypsophila, decorated Sacred Heart Church. Father Jan Planeta officiated.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Marshall, 103 Quadra Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Aristed Bourassa of Parksville. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride was lovely in a full-length gown of heavy white satin that had a cowl neckline that dipped to a V at the back. A large bow at the point of the V marked where two panels extended back to form a train.

A Spanish lace mantilla added to the picture. Ivy accented her cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

The couple plans to make their home in Saskatoon.

Robson-Stringfellow

Standards of white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated St. Mary's Anglican Church for the marriage of Diane Cynthia Stringfellow to Arland David Robson.

Canon Hywel Jones conducted the service which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stringfellow, 2558 Esplanade, and the son of Mrs. Ellen Robson, 965 Brighton Crescent, and the late Lt. Lt. J. T. Robson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of peau d'elegance. Chantilly lace highlighted the empire bodice of the gown and was echoed in a panel, trimmed with peau d'elegance, which extended from the back. A cardinal train of the same material swept back from a lace yoke. Her chapel-length veil of illusion misted from a deep pill box of similar lace studded with seed pearls. Only jewelry accent to the gown was drop pearl earrings. She carried pink roses with stephanotis and ivy in her cascade bouquet.

The attendants, matron of honor Mrs. Roland Robson, sister-in-law of the groom, and bridesmaid Miss Pat Larsen were gowned alike in pale pink crystal organza over deep pink peau de soie, styled on empire lines. Pillbox hats in tone with the gowns held circular cascades of organza which misted to the shoulder. Silver lockets, gifts of the bride, were jewelry accents. They carried colonial bouquets of roses and amonias in pink and mauve shades.

Roland Robson was best man and ushering the guests were Robin Campbell and Jack Manson.

J. Cunningham proposed the toast to the bride at the garden reception in the Esplanade home of Mr. and Mrs. G. DeWaal.

Upon returning from a tour through the United States, the newlyweds will make their home at 2100 Haultain Street.

For travelling, the bride donned a turquoise linen dress topped with a tailored coat in multi-striped linen.

Takes a Walk in Her Crown

Rich Prince Weds Countess In Fairytale Liechtenstein

VADUZ, Leichtenstein (UPI) — Crown Prince Hans Adam, heir to more money than he can count, kissed his penniless princess lightly on the lips Sunday, then led her from their fairytale wedding for a stroll through the streets for all his kingdom to see.

There was a flush on her cheeks, and a crown of jewels in her hair glittered in warm sunlight. A crowd of thousands, swollen by tourists and 900 official guests, cheered mightily.

It was the kind of happy, hysterical day that could have been brought to life from the pages of Hans Christian Andersen.

There were mountains of food, and oceans of wine and beer.

Summer Beauty

It is easy to have a good summer complexion, despite the skin coarsening effect of summer. The pores open much wider in the heat so it's essential that they have free movement or else they will begin to clog. Protect from cosmetic pigments, dust, and powder by smoothing on your oil of Olay. This will also protect the complexion against harsh sun rays and will give the skin a milky bloom even on the hottest days.

Coco Chanel

Slights De Gaulle

By LUCIE NOEL

PARIS (AP) — The return of Bettina as a mannequin, printed velvets, off-face berets and the absence of any cabinet ministers' wives were the highlights of Coco Chanel's winter fashion show.

The accent was on fabrics.

In addition to printed velvets, there were metallic weaves, wonderfully airy, or boucle tweeds. These tweeds were often tone on tone and 90 per cent of the time in plaids.

Bettina, once Fath's star mannequin and later the fiancee of the late Prince Aly Khan, modelled for Chanel "for friendship." She paraded several off-the-shoulder Second Empire flounced dresses as worn by empress Eugenie and painted by Winterhalter.

Chanel gave an interview recently in which she was less than complimentary to President de Gaulle. This was generally believed the reason the usual contingent of cabinet ministers' wives stayed away.

Mannequins wore off-face berets, usually trimmed in mink.

Lorger-tiered, pearl tear-drop skin forming a halo. They wore earrings were for evening.

Garden Notes

Beans Give Choice

By M. V. CHESNUT

It doesn't seem to be generally realized that garden beans can be picked and eaten at three different stages in their growth, each stage producing an entirely different flavor.

The usual way, of course, is to pick the pods young, either the green or yellow varieties, before they have lost their girlish figures and become bulky with seeds. The tips and tails are snipped off and the pods steamed or boiled until tender. In our family, we prefer our freshly picked snap beans served with only salt and pepper and their own delicious buttery juices rather than jazzing up the dish with fancy flavors.

devoting precious garden space to growing dried beans. The big commercial growers in Texas grow them by the square mile, harvesting them by the ton with completely mechanized equipment. Because of this, both the white navy beans and the red kidney beans cost less to buy in the stores than it would cost to raise them yourself.

Moreover, the vines produce only one picking this way, for when a bean vine succeeds in producing ripe, mature seeds, its purpose in life is accomplished, and the plant simply packs up and quits.

The third way of picking and serving beans is not very well known in this country, although quite popular in Europe, and is well worth trying.

Your regular snap bean vines are handled in much the same way as English broad beans or green limas. The pods are allowed to swell a little beyond the ideal snap bean stage to a point where the seeds within the pods are almost fully developed, plump and easily seen from the outside, but before the seeds start to harden and dry. The pods are picked at this almost-but-not-quite-ripe stage and are shelled just as you would peas. I might say this shelling business is a bit tiresome, as the bean pods don't pop open as readily as peas.

Beans picked and served at this half-way stage are known in France as flageolets and are cooked quite simply, exactly as you would green peas. The flavor, which is quite different from anything else in the garden, can be enhanced by adding a little finely chopped onion and a dab of butter a few minutes before serving. You eat these on any occasion when, ordinarily, peas would be served, although in France the flageolets are and are cooked quite simply, lamb or a shoulder of mutton.

Flageolets are not popular in France that special bean varieties have been bred especially for this purpose — varieties such as Chevrier, Chevier Vert and Roi des Verts. I have never seen this listed in any Canadian or U.S. seed catalogue, and about the nearest thing we have on this continent are Dwarf Horticultural and the Speckled Cranberry beans.

The French flageolet varieties have pale green seeds a little larger and rounder than ordinary domestic snap beans, but it isn't really necessary to grow special varieties. Any kind of garden bean can be picked in the intermediate stage and served as flageolets.

The Anatomy of a Leader

WASHINGTON — Negro "leaders" aren't born these days, but made — and in most instances by the news media.

Take the case of Robert Runnymeade as an example.

Robert Runnymeade has been standing the corner of Spring and Maple for the past three years (except when he's in jail) saying to three or four hangers-on, "We ought to shake someone up."

Nobody ever paid much attention to Robert Runnymeade until a few months ago when a reporter for a local newspaper, doing a story on violence in the ghetto, happened to overhear Runnymeade say to his friends: "Man, we ought to burn down this town."

The next day a story appeared in the paper that "Robert Runnymeade, a leader of the Black Power movement, told a militant crowd at Spring and Maple that it was time to burn down the town."

A television crew was dispatched the next evening to Spring and Maple where his pals were congratulating Runnymeade on making the front pages of the newspaper.

The TV commentator stuck a microphone in front of Robert Runnymeade's face, lights were turned on and for the next 30 minutes, Runnymeade said "The Mayor, the city council, the 'hoodies' and President Johnson have to talk to me."

The opposition television station sent out its camera crews to get views of Runnymeade, and with all the lights and trucks a large crowd gathered, as they will when they see TV cameras.

The news media claimed that the crowd who had gathered were all Runnymeade's followers, when in fact most of them had never heard of Runnymeade, and those who knew him thought he was a joke.

But the press was not too interested as to how many followers Runnymeade really had. He was now talking about burning down the Yosemite National Park and this certainly had news value.

In the meantime the networks had plugged into Runnymeade and he started holding press conferences telling everyone, "I'm not going to take any stuff from anyone, and if I have to wipe out the United States Marine Corps I'm going to do it."

The Negro people still considered Runnymeade a joke, but the white people were scared out of their wits by his television appearances and his statements in the press.

Things got so bad that when the President of the United States went on television to talk about the riots this statement was played on the bottom of the page, and a statement made by Runnymeade threatening to use tanks against the public library was given a six column headline.

It got so bad that no matter what happened, Runnymeade was the first interviewed as to what his opinion was on the issues of the day. Runnymeade was quoted on Red China, Vietnam, the Middle East crisis. He appeared on the covers of both leading news magazines.

The majority of the Negro community kept insisting that Runnymeade did not speak for them, but no one could make a headline or a TV news story out of that.

Unfortunately, the publicity had gone to Runnymeade's head, and one day he announced he was burning all white newsmen from his press conferences.

Since they couldn't cover him anymore, the news media sought out another "Negro leader," on the corner of Marlin and Sycamore streets.

His name was Huggins Haplap and he was overheard by a reporter the other day saying to a girl he was trying to impress, "I'm going to burn down the Grand Coulee Dam."

It shouldn't be long before Haplap becomes a feared American household name.

'I'm Going to Show Her'

ROME (NANA) — "I have to make Charo a star," Xavier Cugat said at the Taverna Flavia, which was Elizabeth Taylor's favorite restaurant when she and Richard Burton were making headlines in the dear, dead days of Cleopatra. "When I divorced Abbe (I thought Mimi Lane had divorced him) I was ready to retire. But when Abbe starts saying there are things he can't do without me, I'm going to show her that I can. Of course this is my last marriage (Cugat is 67, wife Charo, 22). I must present Charo in a big way. I took her to Hollywood. There they say 'She may be a big star in Europe but not here.' And in Europe they say, 'She is a big star in America!'"

To achieve his goal Cugat is starring Charo in a mammoth album in Rome and he plans to invite all the press. Charo is blonde, sings well, is pretty and under Cugat's tutelage, she mispronounces words quite deliciously. Other girls with less have made it. All she needs, in addition to her vigorous mate, is a bit of luck.

Producers in Italy are now making every western hero look like Clint Eastwood who became famous and rich in Italy with his Dollar pictures. They are even making a movie in Rome titled, Clint, The Lonely One. In Italy it's the custom to parody successful pictures. For instance, there is The Night of the Corporals and You Only Die Twice. And of course you know that Sean Connery's kid brother has starred in an Italian film titled, Okay, Connery.

And did you know that in Italy, movies try to help television and vice versa. For instance, Mondays and Tuesdays on TV are the nights to see feature films because these are the two weakest nights in the theatres. It's actually written into the law that one medium must help the other.

Variety's Hank Werba, in Rome, has a talented wife. Nadia makes documentaries. The one she made about an Italian art director, Piero Gherardi, won first prize at the San Sebastian film festival. She is also a good painter and had an exhibition not too long ago in New York City.

The Italian film industry is booming. They made 235 movies last year. I doubt whether Hollywood made as many. I've said it before. To cover the film scene today, a columnist must be prepared to travel. Which suits me fine.

They are building a villa in Sardinia for the Burtons in their Boom picture for Universal. Don't be too surprised if Katharine Hepburn stars alongside them.

Divorce, Swedish-Style

Apropos of my recent piece on taking the legal "guilt" out of divorce — which turns most divorce litigants into liars, bullies, spies or hypocrites — a sociologist at Harvard has called to my attention a brand-new book called Sex and Society in Sweden.

Written by Birgitta Linner, a Swedish lawyer and founder of the Stockholm Family Counselling Bureau, the book clarifies many of the misconceptions and distortions we have had about family life and sexual standards in modern Sweden.

"The Swedish system," she writes, "recognizes that marital conflicts may be irreconcilable, and termination of the relationship the best solution. Without the necessity to establish guilt, there tends to be less expression of bitterness or aggression, and fewer psychological scars for the persons involved."

"Partners," she goes on, "can come to understand, and not resent, each other's standpoints, even though reconciliation is impossible or undesirable. Two people who secure a divorce under such conditions are better equipped to face their new situations and find fulfillment in life."

In situations where "primary blame" is customarily laid on one partner, infidelity is often the difficulty. But, as she says, "Swedes are increasingly aware that infidelity need not always be the fault of the unfaithful party. The blame can be mutual even though the act is not."

TV TALK

By BRUCE LOWTHER

Part of the Seattle TV strike ended during the week-end, when 75 members of the entertainers' union agreed to return to their jobs and Channels 4, 5 and 7 agreed to drop a damage suit against them.

The 15 technicians who went out July 7 in a contract dispute remain out, canceling hydroplane trials this week plus shows affected earlier. The entertainers had decided, July 17 to respect picket lines but now feel returning to work will help technicians' negotiations.

Robin Jeffrey, who used to write here, thought the CBC's snooker series was a waste of time. Not me — my secret desire is to be a hustler.

But the latest TV pool show is too much even for me. It's a syndicated series called Celebrity Billiards, with Minnesota Fats each week playing against such as Mickey Rooney, Don Adams, Buddy Hackett, Donald O'Connor, Robert Morse, Milton Berle, Jim Garner, Barry Sullivan, Morey Amsterdam, the Smothers brothers and Bill Cosby.

Violent Storm Halts McKinley Rescuers

From Huge Start To Small Finish

Fantastic sight was provided Sunday as 214 bath-tubs and 500 escort and sightseeing vessels poured out of Nansimo harbor at start of Great Nansimo Centennial Bathtub Race. Aerial photo by Les Englefield provided above view of start while Jim Ryan photo show winner Rusty Harrison of Richmond at left taking it easy on mainland side following victory, and John Sangster of Vancouver below struggling to beat mechanical trouble that gave Harrison victory after Sangster led almost all the way.

Space-Age Kite Arrives

By JOHN MATTERS

Sergei Condrashoff has designed a toy that he hopes will put an end to many a father's Sunday afternoon blues. It's called an Incredible Space Platform, which came from his inventive mind after years of watching distraught and disgusted fathers try to explain to their children why they were not able to launch a kite. "A kite has become one of the ways a father has to prove himself. I've seen dozens who must have worked many hours on their devices, then can't get them into the air."

"It's the same almost every time — they turn from pink to red to purple, then spend 15 minutes trying to explain to the child why it didn't work," added Mr. Condrashoff, a scientist at the Federal Forest Research Laboratory.

The Incredible Space Platform has gone through all sorts of trials and now is being marketed in Victoria.

"I have been told it's a winner. It came out in June which is not the kite season, but it's going exceedingly well," said Mr. Condrashoff, who lives at 1230 St. Patrick.

The Incredible Space Platform, selling for $1.38, is made of soft plastic, which means it's safe even if it does end up in power lines.

* * *

It's also simple to launch (just release it into any wind of more than five miles an hour) and virtually unbreakable.

However, in addition to its marketable features, the Incredible Space Platform turns out to fit nicely into Mr. Condrashoff's philosophy. He hopes it will distract children from war toys.

"I'm unhappy with the nature of some boys — it's hardly a time in this century to condition young minds to war, to encourage them to think about brutal and savage things," he explained.

The Alberta-born scientist, who has lived in British Columbia most of his life, is no novice when it comes to inventions, however. Four years ago, he designed a completely collapsible crab trap that's now manufactured by Scott Plastics.

* * *

Among his projects at the forest laboratory are studies of the needle mining moth that has been damaging timber stands on northern Vancouver Island and weevils which attack seedlings.

Firestone Prices Up

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. announced Monday it is increasing prices of passenger truck and tractor tires and tubes by 2.5 to 10.4 per cent, effective today, due to increases in employment costs."

The company recently signed a new contract with the United Rubber Workers Union. Other rubber producers said they plan no immediate increases.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A violent summer storm pinned down a rescue team Monday on 20,250-foot Mt. McKinley and left in doubt whether a search would continue for four climbers missing and feared dead.

Bodies of three others in the climbing party were found Saturday at the 18,000-foot level. Hope for the others was almost gone. Nothing had been heard from them for 13 days after they conquered the mountain, highest in North America.

The five-man rescue team checked every major crevasse and snow cave Sunday between the 18,000 and 15,000-foot levels where the missing men might have taken refuge. They were not found.

Then a new storm forced the searchers to descend to 12,000 feet for more protection from the wind, snow and bitter cold; and to recuperate from the exhaustion of the high-altitude hunt.

Art Hayes, chief Ranger at Mt. McKinley National Park, said there was a possibility the search might have to be abandoned because of the weather and rigors of the ordeal.

"It all depends on the conditions of the five men and whether they feel able to climb back up about 6,000 feet and continue looking for the four men we are almost sure are here," Hayes said. He expected a radio report from the rescue team later in the day.

Hayes said the three bodies found Saturday will be left where they are and the mountain probably would become their icy tomb.

"Only a jet-powered helicopter would be able to recover them, and it's doubtful if it could operate at that altitude," the Ranger said. "In addition, there probably is no more than an hour or so each month in which weather conditions would allow a copier to get in."

TWO CLIMBERS

Hayes said the bodies of two climbers found late Saturday were less than a quarter-mile from the 17,900-foot camp where Stephen Taylor of Chicago died of altitude sickness and exposure.

Taylor had had to stay at the camp while six companions scaled McKinley's south peak, reaching the top July 18. Indications were a violent storm blew them off the ridge on the way down.

Five other members of the climbing party, who had split off to scale the north peak, missed the seven others during their descent and were forced by bad weather to go down to a camp at 15,000 feet.

FOOD CARRIED

"From there they tried to carry food and fuel back up to the 17,900-foot camp but were hit by an 80-mile-an-hour wind and had to give up after making only half a mile in four hours," Hayes said.

Saturday Show Fans Left Square Messy

Victoria's Chinese community put on a big, successful show Saturday but city parks department officials were pretty disconsolate about the result when they surveyed Centennial Square Monday.

Spectators trampled flower beds, ground shrubbery into the earth and left such debris in the centennial fountain as wrappers, cigarette butts, soft drink bottles and beer bottles.

Northern Appeal

Drink Judgment Later for Indian

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta Supreme Court reserved judgment Monday on a Crown appeal against dismissal of a liquor charge against an Indian resident of the Northwest Territories.

Joseph Drybone, 40, a trapper, was charged "on or about the eighth day of April in 1966, of being an Indian in Yellowknife, of being an Indian unlawfully intoxicated off a reserve, contrary to the Indian Act."

Drybone was fined $10 and the panel reserved decision.

Negotiators Pass Shaved Space Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate-House negotiators Monday approved a $4,900,000,000 authorization for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, including most of the funds requested for the Apollo moon landing.

The Detroit News in a copy-righted article, quoted Greene as saying he could identify the officer who killed one of the young Negro men.

PLAY IT COZY'

Prosecutor William Cahalan said: "We have reasonable grounds to believe a felony has been committed. Nobody's been charged in a warrant. We're still going to play it coy. We don't want anything to happen to this one."

Vance told a press conference that three battalions of regular U.S. Army troops sent to quell the riot were being pulled out of the city in case of emergency.

The federal paratroopers turned all patrol duty over to the federalized Michigan National Guard, Sunday, but remained in the city in case of emergency.

It's also simple to launch (just release it into any wind of more than five miles an hour) and virtually unbreakable.

However, in addition to its marketable features, the Incredible Space Platform turns out to fit nicely into Mr. Condrashoff's philosophy. He hopes it will distract children from war toys.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains a Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Ticking Piles". It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief — here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids.

This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, very striking improvements were reported. This improvement was maintained over a period of months. Among those suffering were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions — even cases of long standing.

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — developed by a world-renowned research institution.

This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H.

Also for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Edgelow Case*'Drinks, Then Crash'

LADYSMITH — Victoria alderman Geoffrey Edgelow said he had "a few drinks with the mayor of Duncan" before an accident, an RCMP constable said Monday.

Decision on the impaired driving charge laid against Mr. Edgelow will be handed down Sept. 12.

EIGHT CARS

Constable Bill Armstrong attended at an accident near Ladysmith Feb. 14, and found eight cars involved in the crash. Dr. P. J. Mitchell, who took a blood sample at Ladysmith Hospital, said "he seemed to be a bit unsteady. He seemed to have difficulty comprehending for what purpose he was there."

NOT COLD

The court was told Mr. Edgelow's blood-alcohol reading was .27.

But the defence vigorously contended that if this reading was correct, Mr. Edgelow would have been unconscious.

The defence also got an admission that the blood sample was not refrigerated, and claimed the composition could have changed.

SMELL TOLD

The court learned Mr. Edgelow is a diabetic.

Constable Armstrong said he smelled alcohol on Mr. Edgelow's breath. "I noticed he was repeating himself."

Centennial Projects Will Grow Forever

The B.C. Forest Service this month officially opens two Centennial projects that will keep growing forever.

They are nurseries at Kokashish, in North Cowichan, and Red Rock, south of Prince George, that together will produce 42,000,000 trees a year in perpetuity.

The Kolesish nursery, 52 acres three miles south of Duncan, will yield Sitka spruce and white hemlock for reforestation.

It will be opened at 2:30 p.m. Aug. 8 by Resources Minister William Williamson. The public has been invited to attend.

The Kolesish nursery will produce about 8,000,000 two-year-old trees each year. Combined with the present Duncan nursery, the total annual yield from the area will be 8,500,000.

The huge Red Rock nursery which will be opened Aug. 14, is expected to produce 35,000,000 trees a year by 1975.

By that time, the B.C. Forest Service hopes its nursery production will be about 75,000,000 trees a year—triple the present output—for transplanting into publicly-owned forests.

protests from a number of residents.

Also approved were plans for a 60-unit apartment in the 3400-block Quadra. The private hospital will be built at Quadra and Inverness.

However, auction rooms at 4520 West Saanich Road were rejected on the grounds that insufficient parking space was included in the proposal.

CEDAR HILL

The zoning amendment under which the Cedar Hill Cross Road apartments will be built will include a clause restricting access from Kingberry Crescent.

The bylaw also will ask developer John Bull to redesign the south wing so neighboring homes won't be in its shadow.

It appeared there is a zoning mixup, which allows one of the residents of Wenman Drive to keep horses and breed rabbits.

The neighbors say horses and rabbits are being kept on a site that's zoned for agricultural purposes. However, it is surrounded by residential zoning.

Fascinating Space Probe Subject

Life Forming on Jupiter?

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New indications have been discovered that the great planet Jupiter, long thought to be a dead world, may be manufacturing the molecular building blocks of life.

* * *

These indications were reported recently by a couple of scientists who said they have "profound implications for studies of the origin of life on earth."

The scientists are Jack Greenspan and Tobias Owen of the Research Institute of Chicago. They analyzed the atmosphere of Jupiter as observed in infrared and ultraviolet light and reported their findings in the magazine Science.

Jupiter is by far the largest of the sun's planets. It is 318 times as massive as the earth.

Because of its great gravitational power, a function of its great mass, scientists assume that Jupiter has retained in its atmosphere the original substances of which the solar system was formed some 5,000,000,000 years ago.

* * *

The lighter of these, notably hydrogen, have gradually escaped from the atmosphere of earth because this planet's gravitational pull is not strong enough to hold them.

But hydrogen compounds such as methane and ammonia in earth's early atmosphere are believed to have interacted under the influence of solar radiation or lightning discharges to form the complex "pre-life" molecules out of which living organisms evolved.

Greenspan and Owen also found a mystery. Chemical molecules disclose their presence in spectroscopic studies by the characteristic way they absorb specific wavelengths of light.

Greenspan and Owen discovered absorptions which appear to be caused by some kind of complicated hydrocarbon. Its identification, perhaps by spacecraft of the future, will help to determine whether Jupiter is indeed a vast biological laboratory.

* * *

Because of this possibility, that pre-life molecules are even now being created in the Jovian atmosphere, Greenspan and Owen feel that "missions to Jupiter promise to be among the most rewarding efforts of the space program."

Sniper Fire Ricochets In Milwaukee

By United Press International

Sniper fire ricocheted in the troubled streets of Milwaukee Monday night despite heavy police and National Guard patrols out to enforce a rigid curfew.

There were new reports of fires and looting and police armed with high-powered rifles stalked the area where rioting, sniping, arson and looting erupted Sunday night. Teams of crackshot officers worked the streets in armored cars. (See also Page 28.)

National Guardsmen were on stand-by alert outside of Riviera Beach, Fla., where police fired 50 rounds of teargas late Sunday and early Monday to put down a band of 300 Negroes who battled officers. Calm was restored there Monday night, but police in nearby West Palm Beach said there had been minor incidents of lawlessness and several fires, although the causes of the blazes were not immediately determined.

* * *

In Milwaukee, rioting flared so far beyond control Sunday night that a state of emergency was declared. Two persons, one a policeman, were killed, at least 83 persons more injured and 147 arrested during rampages extending into Monday.

A force of approximately 6,000 National Guardsmen and police were assigned to the area to keep order.

Violence also occurred early Monday in Portland, Ore., where between 200 and 300 Negroes in small gangs rampaged for several hours following an outdoor rally.

"They want a better place to live. They want jobs. They want the rats exterminated. They want the trash cleaned from the streets. They want the dope pushers and junkies arrested. They want more playgrounds for their children."

Basically, he said, they want

For Vast Majority

Life in Ghetto, 'Just Waiting'

By RAY HIBERT

BOSTON (LAT) — What's life like in the ghetto?

In impoverished neighborhoods of the nation's large cities, resignation and militancy exist side by side, according to New York mayor John Lindsay.

"If you go into the slums, as I have, you may find that the people want pretty much what everybody wants," he told a national meeting of mayors and city officials.

The mayor of the nation's most populous city said he was not talking about rioters — "Most of whom are much more interested in a free television set than the improvement of the human condition."

"I am talking about the vast majority of the urban poor who are waiting — with accelerating

Three Arrested In Biggest Theft

BOSTON (AP) — Two men and a woman were indicted and arrested Monday in connection with the $1,551,277 robbery of a U.S. mail truck in Plymouth, Mass., in 1962.

They were rounded up a few hours after secret indictments were returned by a federal grand jury which had been investigating the robbery for the last two weeks.

Arrested were Thomas R. Richards, 42, of Weymouth, Mass., John J. Kelley, 51, of Watertown, Mass., and Patricia Diaferio, 32, of Boston.

The indictment charged that all three, with "other persons unknown" robbed two postal workers of $1,551,277 in Canadian and American currency.

Bail for the two men was set at $25,000. Mrs. Diaferio was released on $5,000 bail.

The mail truck case is said to have been the biggest cash robbery in U.S. history.

Richards' home in Weymouth was torn apart by U.S. marshals and postal inspectors in October, 1962, two months after the robbery.

BILLS, WEAPONS

Searchers reported finding $350 in 1950-issue $10 bills hidden under the bathroom floor. A shotgun and a 45-calibre pistol, two empty footlockers and two bullet-proof vests and belts similar to those worn by policemen also were found in the house.

One of the Plymouth mail robbers wore a police uniform and the others in the group of four or five robbers carried shotguns.

Bail for the two men was set

Appeal Court Quashes Sentences

Rolling Stones Freed from Jail Threat

LONDON (Reuters) — The threat of jail was lifted from Mick Jagger and Keith Richard of the Rolling Stones pop-music group Monday in a ruling that brought squeals of teen-age delight bursting through London's Supreme Court of Appeal.

Lord Chief Justice Parker threw out the sentences imposed on Jagger and Richard last month for narcotics offences.

Lord Parker and two other appeal judges quashed the conviction against Richard for letting his country house be used for smoking Indian hemp. He had been sentenced to 32 months in jail.

Jagger's conviction for possessing four Italian pep pills was allowed to stand. But the sentence of three months was reduced to a discharge, conditional on good behavior for 12 months.

The two 23-year-old pop idols drove off grinning through the London sunshine with screams.

ing girls hurling themselves on their car.

Richard stayed out of the courtroom because he has chicken pox. Jagger was present.

The charges were laid following a raid on Richard's house in the country in February. A major part of Monday's hearing was concerned with evidence that at the party there was a naked girl with just a fur rug round her shoulders.

The prosecution argued that the girl's uninhibited manner demonstrated that she had been taking Indian hemp.

Lord Parker agreed with a defense submission that insufficient evidence had been presented to show the girl was under influence of drugs.

He ruled the sentencing judge erred in not warning the convicting jury that the evidence of drug-taking by the girl was extremely tenuous.

Canada Plays It Cool, But . . .

De Gaulle Again Enrages Ottawa

By RON COLLISTER

Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—President de Gaulle has added a few ugly feet to the length of the Iron Curtain that now divides Ottawa and Paris over his visit to Quebec.

His statements in Paris Monday, explaining his intrusion in Canadian affairs, have infuriated the Canadian government. (See statement, Page 5.)

But the government is likely to play it cool and avoid answering de Gaulle in the same rude terms.

MEETING TODAY

A cabinet meeting, today or Wednesday, will decide if it should answer him.

The feeling here is that a slingling match with de Gaulle won't melt the ice in relations between the two countries.

De Gaulle's most offensive remark Monday was that the Canadian government did not want Quebec to be free.

MADE CLEAR

In his tough rebuke of de Gaulle last week, Prime Minister Pearson made it clear:

"The people of Canada are free. Every province of Canada is free."

But back in Paris, de Gaulle explained his decision to boycott Ottawa in a cabinet statement:

"A declaration published by the Canadian government, and describing as 'unacceptable' the wish that Quebec be free, as expressed by General de Gaulle, clearly made this visit to Ottawa impossible."

EMPHASIS

It was this emphasis on "freedom" and "liberation" that prompted Mr. Pearson to fire his initial blast at the French president.

Particularly, de Gaulle's statement that travelling through Quebec reminded him of the liberation in the Second World War.

"Canadians do not need to be liberated," Mr. Pearson snapped.

AGAIN VAGUE

In Monday's 500-word statement in Paris, de Gaulle again is vague about what his relationship with Quebec will be.

He has signified to French

New Park Developed

Bright Angel Opened

By JEAN MacGREGOR

COWICHAN STATION—The park is open, but the work has only started.

South Cowichan Centennial chairman Howard Howden opened Bright Angel Park, announcing development of roads, camp sites, a ball park and parking.

A 27-year-old dream was realized Monday night when the park was opened.

The park was the dream of Jack Fleetwood who donated five acres to the south Cowichan centennial committee, on the condition that the park be called Bright Angel Park, a name he has had in mind for many years.

Stone Cairn

Mrs. Fleetwood took part in the dedication ceremony when she unveiled a plaque centred in a six-foot stone cairn.

Also participating was Henry Dosh, who cut the ribbon in the centre of an 185-foot suspension bridge over the Koksilah River, which runs through the centre of the park. Mr. Dosh donated an acre of land.

The remaining 22 acres which completes the park was donated by the provincial highways department.

Cost Split

The South Cowichan Centennial Committee was formed last year, and in September Bright Angel Park project was approved at a cost of $3,000.

The committee received $2,900 from the federal government and a further $1,740 from the provincial government on the basis of a district population of 2,900 persons.

The establishment of the centennial committee incorporated chairman of the South Cowichan park's committee chairman Ed Burnett, and the park will be turned over to park committee.

"It is amazing the way people have turned out to help in clearing brush, building tables, the change house, the suspension bridge, the parking lot, the cairn and just generally cleaning up."

Change House

"In a peak month there were 800 hours of voluntary labor put in here."

Bright Angel Park includes 35 picnic tables, a change house (six units and wash basins), a parking lot, gravelled roads, the suspension bridge, and a hand-cut trail along the river.

Mr. Howden said: "In future we hope to open up the many old logging roads through the park, clear areas for camping sites, clear additional parking space and construct a ball diamond."

And How He Came Back

Shove-Off Notice Angered Racers

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — Bitter complaints are flowing in in the wake of the big bathtub race, and they threaten to take the warm glow off the event.

Most centre around the finish-line "reception."

• The harbor wasn't cleared for the armada.

• Food was almost impossible to find. Hot coffee was not available for cold competitors;

• And the escort vessels were unceremoniously asked to shove off, shortly after they arrived at the finish line.

With more than 200 starting and less than a quarter finishing the course, there were many competitors unhappy.

Some of the tubs entered in the derby were confused by the milling around in the crowded harbor, and felt they had been cheated out of a fair start.

They followed the official schedule of events, proceeded smoothly until the armada approached the finish line.

Then everyone realized with shock that there hadn't been a start.

Rusty Harrison, White Rock, came first at 1:53:30 p.m.

Other winners:

• Jack Adams, Duncan, Aquamarine, second at 1:55:05 p.m.

• Harewood Fire Department, Pointz, third.

• Oldent to make the full distance, Bert White, 66, Nanaimo, in Ol' Timer.

• First woman, Nancy O'Hara, 20, Fanny Bay.

• Silver Plunger body prize was won by Nanaimo Jaycees, who managed to tip their tub just 30 seconds after the 10:15 a.m. starting gun.

Finish Line

The start was mixed up. No one had quite conceived of the enormity of the event. But Mr. Ney managed to come up with a start that was theoretical, if not polished.

Then things went reasonably smoothly until the armada approached the finish line.

Then everyone realized with shock that there hadn't been a start.

Oh, well. Who knows? May be even Captain Bligh had his off days.

much success in keeping the harbor clear for the hundreds of boats and scattered tubs that were pulling in.

Play Chicken

Like Parijans taxi drivers, skippers just kept the boat plowing ahead waiting for the other man to chicken out.

On shore, captains of yachts arrived cold and wet.

No where could there be seen a hot cup of coffee, nor more important, a meal.

Blow Blow

The huge blow-out everyone anticipated with relish, turned out to be a dream which went out with the last tide.

The final blow came when escort captains arrived back at their boats.

A little yellow letter was waiting for them.

Get Going

It bid them welcome, and after a short explanation of the area's inability to moore the vessels, asked the captain to have his boat away from the dock by 6:30 p.m.

That awards were not presented in Nanaimo bothered many.

That some deserving tubers got no award for their cleverness or designed, bothered others.

That there has seemingly been no arrangement to house at least one tub, as commemoration of the spectacular event, still bothers many.

Crabapple Cruise

By JIM RYAN

NANAIMO — The Great Centennial Bathtub Race may go down in maritime history as an epic adventure along the lines of the Dunkirk rescue armada.

Frankly, I would rather have been at Dunkirk than bobbing across the Strait of Georgia.

Somewhere on that long, rolling expanse of sea between Nanaimo and the West Vancouver Yacht Club, I decided the next time I get near water it will be surrounded by a glass.

In trying to catch a ride on one of the escort boats, I discovered that where two is company, three's a crowd.

After half-a-dozen rebuffs, I felt like the Ancient Mariner and was ready to swim the gulf.

I was on and off more boats than a Bounty mutineer.

Help came in the nick of time — thanks to a pair of hardy bathubbers: MLA's Herb Capozzi and Dr. Howard McDarmid, whose red and white entry the S.S. Soored sailed gallantly out into the gulf amid rousing cheers.

To say the S.S. Soored founded midway across would be unfair. I prefer to think that it retired gracefully under pressure.

I wish my stomach had done likewise.

There was one consolation though: Someone handed me a gold-painted bathtub plug.

The Great Race was over.

My stomach and I had still failed to come to grips with each other.

One thought assailed me: After ten years in the Canadian Navy, how could I ever face my old shipmates and admit that 32 miles of water felt like a lifetime at sea?

Captain Keeps Dismal Record

FULFORD — The 19th Fulford Salmon Derby got off to an early start Sunday with a brisk wind and choppy sea to greet but not discourage the early risers.

Captain Les Mallett declared he had made record—"Since 1939, I have consistently never caught a salmon at this Salmon Derby," he told the large crowd that gathered at weigh-in time, 5 p.m.—at Patterson's Store.

Captain Mallett was elated for the weigh-in and announced that 41 fish had been caught. The Langley Cup, donated by Ellery Langley in 1943, was won by Floyd Christie with an 11.8 pounder.

Mr. Langley's daughter, Phyllis Havbo of Vancouver, was over to present the trophy to the winner.

A special booby prize was presented to Mrs. Bob Scott who came up with a red sea cucumber which caused a gooey sensation.

Daphne Mount won the first place for the ladies.

Bits of Car Gone Astray

By MARY TAYLOR

POR ALBERNI — Police in the Valley are beginning to wonder if somebody is building a car from scratch.

Last Sunday, Ken Falkenburg of 582 Elizabeth Street, Alberni, reported theft of a tire and wheel from a vehicle parked on Josephine Street. Several sockets and a pair of vice grips went missing too.

And It Came To Pass

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — The cost of pulling off the road and stopping when approached by an emergency vehicle was stremed in court by Magistrate James Roberts.

John W. Grindlay, Chemainus, was convicted on a charge of failing to yield to an emergency vehicle and was fined $25.

Police said the Duncan ambulance came up behind Grindlay's car on the Malahat on Sunday. The ambulance followed the car for more than a mile before Grindlay was finally moved over by a police car.

Grindlay told the court, "I didn't hear or see the ambulance nor the police car."

Magistrate Roberts said motorists must keep constant watch in their rear view mirror and be prepared to pull over and stop when approached by an emergency vehicle.

John A. Wadsworth, 22, of Nanaimo, pleaded guilty to travelling at 90 miles an hour in a 60 zone on the Malahat. He was fined $75 and had his drivers' licence suspended for six months.

Monday morning, Guy Leveseur of the Tyee Service arrived on the job to find both complete rear wheels, with the whitewalls had been taken from his u-drive car overnight.

Strangely, the thief left behind the costly tuboaps.

And the following day, Riverview B-A Service reported someone had jacked up a car on its service lot, and made off with a blackwall tire and wheel.

Now if anyone happens to be missing a chassis...

Tragic End To Day

DUNCAN — Bernard White, Phillip Street, gave his daughter Debbie one of her most desired wishes Saturday. It was a horse of her own.

The White family kept the new prize at its home for the day, and the animal wandered down the street and onto Lake Cowichan Road.

The horse was struck and killed that afternoon by a car driven by Jean Dorothy Kirkham, Seattle.

Victoria Pair Hurt in Crash

DUNCAN — Two Victoria men have been transferred to a Victoria hospital following an accident at the intersection of the Trans-Canada Highway and Miller Road.

Douglas Wayne Pennelle, 1702 Newton, was operating a motorcycle which carried a passenger, Robert William Griffin, 2875 Queenstown.

A car was driven by Flora Ann Alphonse of Duncan.

Both men were tossed into the air from the impact and landed on their heads. They were taken to King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan with head and leg injuries.

Fascinating Space Probe Subject

Life Forming on Jupiter?

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New indications have been discovered that the great planet Jupiter, long thought to be a dead world, may be manufacturing the molecular building blocks of life.

These indications were reported recently by a couple of scientists who said they have "profound implications for studies of the origin of life on earth."

The scientists are Jack Greenspan and Tobias Owen of the Research Institute of Chicago. They analyzed the atmosphere of Jupiter as observed in infrared and ultraviolet light and reported their findings in the magazine Science.

Jupiter is by far the largest of the sun's planets. It is 318 times as massive as the earth.

Because of its great gravitational power, a function of its great mass, scientists assume that Jupiter has retained in its atmosphere the original substances of which the solar system was formed some 5,000,000,000 years ago.

The lighter of these, notably hydrogen, have gradually escaped from the atmosphere of earth because this planet's gravitational pull is not strong enough to hold them.

But hydrogen compounds such as methane and ammonia in earth's early atmosphere are believed to have interacted under the influence of solar radiation or lightning discharges to form the complex "pre-life" molecules out of which living organisms evolved.

Greenspan and Owen also found a mystery. Chemical molecules disclose their presence in spectroscopic studies by the characteristic way they absorb specific wavelengths of light.

Greenspan and Owen discovered absorptions which appear to be caused by some kind of complicated hydrocarbon. Its identification, perhaps by spacecraft of the future, will help to determine whether Jupiter is indeed a vast biological laboratory.

Because of this possibility, that pre-life molecules are even now being created in the Jovian atmosphere, Greenspan and Owen feel that "missions to Jupiter promise to be among the most rewarding efforts of the space program."

OTTAWA FURY RAISED AGAIN

By RON COLLISTER
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—President de Gaulle has added a few ugly feet to the length of the Iron Curtain that now divides Ottawa and Paris over his visit to Quebec.

His statements in Paris Monday, explaining his intrusion in Canadian affairs, have infuriated the Canadian government. (See statement, Page 5.)

But the government is likely to play it cool and avoid answering de Gaulle at the same rude terms.

MEETING TODAY

A cabinet meeting, today or Wednesday, will decide if it should answer him.

The feeling here is that a slanging match with de Gaulle won't melt the ice in relations between the two countries.

De Gaulle's most offensive remark Monday was that the Canadian government did not want Quebec to be free.

MADE CLEAR

In his tough rebuke of de Gaulle last week, Prime Minister Pearson made it clear:

"The people of Canada are free. Every province of Canada is free."

But, back in Paris, de Gaulle explained his decision to boycott Ottawa in a cabinet statement: "A declaration published by the Canadian government, and describing as 'unacceptable' the wish that Quebec be free, as expressed by General de Gaulle, clearly made this visit to Ottawa impossible."

EMPHASIS

It was this emphasis on "freedom" and "liberation" that prompted Mr. Pearson to fire his initial blast at the French president.

Particularly, de Gaulle's statement that travelling through Quebec reminded him of his liberation in the Second World War.

"Canadians do not need to be liberated," Mr. Pearson snapped.

AGAIN VAGUE

In Monday's 500-word statement in Paris, de Gaulle again is vague about what his relationship with Quebec will be.

He has signified to French

We Can Solve Our Problems Here—Johnson

Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson said Monday night that this country can solve its political problems "in Canada."

statement was correct in saying French-speaking Canadians had been assured "liberty, equality and fraternity in their own country" by the British North America Act, Mr. Johnson replied:

"Yes, if he's speaking of French-speaking Canadians across Canada, he's right." However, he said he does not think President de Gaulle meant to include Quebec within the context of the statement.

The premier said that if French culture in this country is to be "of good quality," cultural exchanges are necessary between Quebec and France.

Premier John Robarts of Ontario took exception Monday to the French communiqué. He

Premiers Meet

Health Top Topic At Fredericton

FREDERICTON (CP)—Health, education and taxation are expected to take priority as seven of Canada's 10 provincial premiers settle down to a two-day round of talks here today.

Although the final agenda for the eighth annual premiers conference was to be decided on at a morning session, a release made by Ontario Premier John Robarts Monday listed medical care insurance and education among seven items of business carried over from last year's discussions in Toronto.

Mr. Thatcher, who had been selected to act as vice-chairman, will be represented by Attorney-General D. Head.

Among new business expected to be discussed at the conference is the Carter royal commission report on taxation, but Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia is not likely to be the one to move it to the top of the agenda.

"The Carter report is dead," he said in an interview last week in Moncton.

Collective bargaining for government employees and plans for the Ontario-convened Conference of Tomorrow conference in Toronto Nov. 26-30 are other items expected to come up under new business.

Discussions which opened on several subjects last year are to continue.

Shaken Caracas Counts 120 Dead

CARACAS (AP)—A new earth tremor shook parts of Caracas Monday and Venezuela's interior ministry said the toll known since Saturday's devastating earthquake has risen to 120.

All but one of the dead were victims of the first quake, which ruined houses and caused an estimated $100,000,000 damage. The only death officials reported from Monday's tremor was that of a man who leaped in panic from his third-floor apartment.

MANY MISSING Thousands of persons were reported injured in the two quakes and official estimates of the missing ranged from 100 to 300.

Casualty lists rose as rescue workers continued to dig through the rubble of buildings that fell Saturday. A rescuer said one man was saved because he left his apartment just before the quake to buy cigarettes, but his wife and six children were trapped when the building collapsed.

Firemen working a truck with a telescopic boom pulled three children and their parents alive from another building that was partially destroyed.

REGINA (CP)—Trade Minister Robert Winters said Monday he would like to announce in the near future another substantial sale of wheat to Russia under a long term wheat agreement with that country.

Wheat Sale Certainty

JERUSALEM, Israel (LAT)—Foreign Minister Abba Eban, in a major policy speech to the Knesset, expressed the hope Monday that "brave leaders who would dare to revise old concepts" would emerge in the Arab world to negotiate peace with Israel.

Otherwise, he declared, "it has become clear that there are intermediate states between war and peace and only two alternatives—the continuation of

Rolling Stones Freed from Jail Threat

LONDON (Reuters)—The threat of jail was lifted from Mick Jagger and Keith Richards of the Rolling Stones pop-music group Monday in a ruling that brought squeals of teen-age delight bursting through London's sombre Court of Appeal.

Lord Justice Parker threw out the sentences imposed on Jagger and Richards last month for narcotics offences.

Lord Parker and two other appeal judges quashed the conviction against Richards for letting his country house be used for smoking Indian hemp. He had been sentenced to 12 months in jail.

Jagger's conviction for possessing four Indian pep pills was allowed to stand. But the sentence of three months was reduced to a discharge, conditional on good behavior for 12 months.

The two 23-year-old pop idols drove off grinning through the London sunshine with screaming girls hurling themselves on their car.

Richard stayed out of the courtroom because he has chicken pox. Jagger was present.

The charges were laid following a raid on Richards' house in the country in February. A major part of Monday's hearing was concerned with evidence that at the party there was a naked girl with just a fur rug round her shoulders.

The prosecution argued that the girl's uninhibited manner demonstrated that she had been taking Indian hemp.

Lord Parker agreed with a defence submission that insufficient evidence had been presented to show the girl was under influence of drugs.

He ruled the sentencing judge erred in not warning the convicting jury that the evidence of drug-taking by the girl was extremely tenuous.

For Vast Majority

Life in Ghetto Just Waiting'

By RAY HEBERT

BOSTON (LAT)—What's life like in the ghetto?

In impoverished neighborhoods of the nation's large cities, resignation and militancy exist side by side, according to New York mayor John Lindsay.

"If you go into the slums, as I have, you may find that the people want pretty much what everybody wants," he told a national meeting of mayors and city officials.

The mayor of the nation's most populous city said he was not talking about rioters—most of whom are much more interested in a free television set than the improvement of the human condition."

"I am talking about the vast majority of the urban poor who are waiting—with accelerating

Watch Your Trap!

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dennis McBride, 20, of Vancouver, was fined $25 Monday after being convicted of creating a disturbance in close proximity to a police radar trap on June 22.

Traffic police testified they twice warned him to stop yelling, but he kept it up.

He was shouting "Radar trap! Radar trap!" at passing motorists, the policemen said.

BILLS, WEAPONS Searchers reported finding $250 in 1950-issue $10 bills hidden under the bathroom floor. A shotgun and a 45-caliber pistol, two empty footlockers and two bullet-proof vests and bolts similar to those worn by policemen also were found in the house.

One of the Plymouth mail robbers wore a police uniform and the others in the group of four or five robbers carried shotguns. The indictment charged that all three, with "other persons unknown," robbed two postal workers of $1,551,277 in Canadian and American currency. Bail for the two men was set at $1,551,277.
